CHICAGO PROFESSIONAL CAMPUS

ATHLETICS

NIVERSITY

George D. Stoddard

January 25, 1951

I am happy to extend greetings to Illini over the world. By the time this reaches you, many of you will be completely involved in the new defense effort. The short years of prosperity and peace have been transformed into a period of urgency. Our nation — and all nations that believe in security through freedom — can ward off the growing danger only through extraordinary united effort.

This does not mean that the University of Illinois will cease to be a going concern. Quite the reverse. It is true that there will be some shifts in the program. Inevitably graduates in medicine, dentistry, pharmacy and nursing will be acutely in short supply. We shall, therefore, redouble our efforts to secure the new building on the Chicago Campus. This addition will enable us to increase our student body there by 500.

Similarly on the campus at Urbana-Champaign we shall try to secure the Life Sciences Building. In this great structure will be housed laboratories and classrooms affecting a dozen different departments in the general biological area. The new facilities will be a tremendous aid also to students and faculty in agriculture and medicine because of their dependence upon the basic biological sciences.

Various research and instructional programs related to security measures will be stepped up. Both in Chicago and Urbana-Champaign we need additional housing for students, and strenuous efforts will be made to secure it.

Very likely the University in the next few years will be smaller in size. The slack should be taken up rapidly after three years. Should all young men be inducted for military service for a period of 24-30 months, we may assume that they will start college work, or return to it, with increased zest. This was our experience with the G.I.'s returning from World War II. At the same time, the increase in births which has thus far affected the elementary and secondary schools by 1954 will affect college populations.

More important than either of the factors mentioned above is the growing conviction among civil and military leaders that our nation cannot reach full strength without the optimum education of all its young people. The United States cannot depend upon massive group force, either for internal development or for safety against external enemies. There are not enough of us to go around. If there is to be peace we as Americans must achieve it through integrity and the power of invention and organization. If there is to be war we can win it only by a devotion to such aims. Ourselves and our allies do not constitute the most massive political or national group, but we are again the hope of the world — at least the hope of that portion of the world that believes in decency and liberty.

Illini everywhere have played a glorious role in peace and in war. On the campus or off, we have come to expect no less of everyone associated with our great and beloved University.

The University of Illinois

A great university is a collection of colleges, schools, divisions, institutes, bureaus, services, and experiment stations. In some respects each is autonomous, yet they must work together, and certain services must provide for all. To tie this organization together and make it function as a unit, and at the same time to look ahead and plan for the future, is the task of the University's administration.

Since the war the University of Illinois has doubled in student enrollment and has grown similarly in its research and service activities. With this growth in size has come a growth in administration.

A great university's operation is as complex as a great industry. Functioning in the interest of the citizens and financed largely by tax funds from them, the University must seek efficiency, yet must never lose sight of its purpose in education, research, and service. It must be flexible to meet immediate problems, yet keep focused on long-range values.

The University's work is carried on not only in classroom, laboratory, and library, but also through extension, demonstrations, publications, motion pictures, and radio. From its researches the University develops much new knowledge and gathers information from all over the world. These new facts, added to the old, go not only into teaching, but are made available to citizens everywhere. The University touches almost every field of human interest and activity from archeology and classics to the arts, government, health, agriculture, business, engineering, and science.

Carrying out these policies and directly administering the University is the task of the President. Assisting him are the Provost, the Vice President in charge of the Chicago Division, the Deans and Directors of the various units at Champaign-Urbana, the Comptroller, the Director of the Physical Plant, the Dean of Students, and others, each with special responsibilities and duties.

The Trustees of the University, nine elected directly by the people of the state and two ex-officio by reasons of their positions in the state government, select the President of the University and direct the general policies of administration.

University of Illinois Foundation

Established in 1935, the University of Illinois Foundation is a non-profit corporation organized under the laws of Illinois. Its chief function is to encourage gifts, from both individuals and corporations, for the purpose of assisting the general educational and research program of the University.

One phase of this activity is the Illini Achievement Fund, organized in December, 1948, as a permanent annual-gift program in the interests of the University. In 1949 the Achievement Fund set a new record among Big Ten schools, and among all midwestern state universities, for the number of gifts to such a program during its first year. Contributions from 5,071 Illini and other friends of the University of Illinois totalled $52,131. Fund contributions in 1950 amounted to $74,042 — an increase of 42 per cent over the 1949 figure.

William H. Butterfield,
executive director

James C. Colvin, secretary

Another function of the Foundation is the development of patents assigned to it by the University. Acting in this capacity, the Foundation has acquired patent rights on several inventions, notably a smokeless furnace and an ammoniated dentifrice that helps to combat tooth decay.

The Foundation has a membership of one hundred persons, most of whom are alumni of the University. The present Board of Directors, consisting of nine members, is made up of John H. Armstrong, president of the Foundation, Champaign; H. F. Glair, vice president, Chicago; President George D. Stoddard of the University of Illinois; H. B. Megran, Harvard; Kenney E. Williamson, Peoria; George Donoghue, Chicago; Amos Watts, Chicago; Fred H. Ebersold, Chicago; and Eugene D. Funk, Jr., Bloomington.

The University of Illinois Alumni Association

The Alumni Association is the official bond between the University and Illini in all parts of the world.

The Association publishes Illinois Alumni News and sends it to nearly 70,000 Illini. It helps with alumni placement, assists officers with the work of an increasingly large number of Illini clubs, helps maintain the Illini Center in Chicago's LaSalle hotel, and performs hundreds of personal services for alumni.

It has a large staff gathering and recording the new addresses of nearly 90,000 Illini. Some 7,000 address changes are made every month.

Most recently it led the movement for the production of sound films on the campus — a work which makes it possible for Illini in many places to see and hear these games and which undoubtedly will film other campus events with sound. This fall it began sponsoring Coach Ray Eliot's Football Letter, which is sent to all members of the Alumni Association and which has won wide acclaim.

Membership in the Association has grown until now it is one of the largest in the United States. Fred H. Ebersold of Chicago is president and C. E. Bowen of Champaign is executive director. William H. Rice is field director; Russel W. Steger is assistant field director; James C. Colvin is editor of the Alumni News.

The Deans

The University of Illinois recognizes its responsibility for students living in the academic community and attempts to provide the most favorable conditions for them. Under Dean of Students Fred H. Turner, who is the unifying and coordinating official, are Associate Dean Harold S. Dawson, director of placement, and Assistant Dean Arthur Hamilton, in charge of foreign students.

Miriam A. Sheldon, who has been on active duty in the United States Navy, has resumed her duties as dean of women during 1950-1951. Her assistants are Miss Agnes Tandberg, assistant dean of freshmen; Mrs. Florence Inghram, residence hall counselor; Miss Inez Tate, advisor to independent women and the Women's Group System; and Miss Mary Jane Klein, advisor to sorority women and Panhellenic Council.

The staff of the Dean of Men, Edward E. Stafford includes Mr. Gerald W. Peck, assistant dean of men and director of Placement Bureau; Mr. V. J. Hampton, assistant dean of student activities; Mr. George H. Bargh, assistant dean of fraternity men; and Mr. Richard E. Hulet, assistant dean of independent men.

College of Agriculture

Dean Henry Rusk

Mumford Hall

Under the able guidance of Dean Rusk, the students of the College of Agriculture continue to study the land and its products and to work for better farm family living.

The College of Agriculture is a direct outgrowth of the Morrill Act of 1862. The legislation became popularly known as the Land-grant College Act, since it provided federal support for state educational institutions in a form available to each state. There are sixty-nine land-grant institutions in the United States today, and they provide training for approximately one-fourth of the students enrolled in the four year colleges and universities.

Students in agriculture and home economics find the horizons of their study much wider than they once were. They may now encounter such varied studies as the development of antibiotics, dietary problems of older people, the use of radio-active elements, and other studies as modern as tomorrow's newspaper.

The threefold job of the College of Agriculture — undergraduate and graduate teaching, research, and off-campus teaching through the extension service in agriculture and home economics — has moved forward with time.

College of Commerce and Business Administration

The College of Commerce and Business Administration is organized under two departments—the Department of Business Organization and Operation which includes Accountancy, Business Law, Management, Marketing, and Secretarial Training; and the Department of Economics. After his first two years, an undergraduate specializes in one of these areas.

The research function of the College is served by the Bureau of Economics and Business Research which conducts research in marketing, banking and private finance, public finance, taxation, insurance, governmental accounting, and related fields. The Bureau publishes two periodicals, the Illinois Business Review and the Current Economic Comment.

Through the Business Management Service the College of Commerce and Business Administration provides educational and technical service to business communities in the state. This affords direct contact for both students and faculty including relationships with real businessmen and business problems.

The commerce staff members co-operate with the placement bureau in trying to obtain for all graduates positions which will harmonize with their college preparation.

College of Education

Dean Willard Spalding

Gregory Hall

The College of Education prepares students for careers in teaching, special educational services, and school administration. Special undergraduate programs are offered in industrial, agricultural, home economics, and elementary curricula. Students have the opportunity of teaching under special supervisors in schools cooperating with the College of Education. The University High School, which serves as a laboratory for the college, affords opportunities for experimentation under controlled conditions.

The Bureau of Research and Service makes investigations which take the form of directing school surveys.

The College sponsors a number of annual conferences designed to meet specific problems of educators and other persons interested in improving the schools. Largest of these meetings is the Illinois Summer Education Conference held on the campus each June in connection with the regular summer session for teachers from all parts of the country. Another contact with Illinois schools is made through the office of teacher placement which provides a free service to students, alumni, and employers.

College of Engineering

With the new Mechanical and Electrical Engineering buildings and the Physics Research building becoming an accepted part of the campus, both the faculty and students of the engineering school have been able to devote unhindered effort to the principal business of education under the direction of Dean William Everitt.

Collectively the College has been and is now continuing the study of many teaching and educational methods. Subcommittees of the College executive committee are investigating such problems as the engineering students' needs in rhetoric and speech.

The College of Engineering has always stressed extracurricular activities as an important part of education. Several honorary fraternities are organized to recognize and promote scholarship. The Illinois Technograph, an engineering magazine published and managed by engineering students, offers a variety of opportunities for engineers.

An important extracurricular role is also played by the student Engineering Council. This council serves to coordinate the numerous functions of the member professional societies and sponsors many College-wide activities.

Architecture Building

The College of Fine and Applied Arts consists of the Departments of Architecture, Art, Landscape Architecture, the School of Music, the Bureau of Community Planning, and the University Bands. There are twelve curricula leading to degrees in various of the Fine Arts offered to undergraduate students, and graduate instruction is provided in each of these divisions. In addition to its more formal program of instruction, the College offers annually many admission-free lectures, concerts, recitals, and a series of art exhibits displayed in the Architecture Building. In cooperation with other departments the College sponsors a Festival of Contemporary Arts. Many students from other colleges of the University elect various cultural courses offered by the College. With an annual enrollment in excess of 1,300 students, the College has a teaching faculty of 155 full-time members.

Rexford Newcomb, Dean of the College of Fine and Applied Arts, is now completing a third of a century of service to the University of Illinois and nineteen years as a dean. He is also a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects and is a member of various honorary and professional societies.

Graduate College

The University of Illinois Graduate College is known internationally as a center of research in many subjects. The departments of physics and chemistry have been especially prominent in research projects recently.

The magnitude of the graduate program is now reaching a peak after a rapid increase during postwar years. More than three times the number of students registered in the Graduate College in the last prewar year are now enrolled. Scholarships and fellowships established by the University Board of Trustees are open to graduate students of exceptional ability and promise. Funds are available from several special sources to contribute to this extension and diffusion of knowledge.

Postgraduate study is primarily a program of personal initiative. The graduate student is expected not only to become acquainted with the previously accumulated knowledge in his field, but also to broaden the range of material available. Many students in the Graduate College hold positions as instructors in undergraduate divisions of their specialized courses.

School of Journalism and Communications

Dean Frederick Siebert

Originally the journalism program at the University included only courses in news writing and editing. Today the School has a journalism division, including news-editorial work and publication management, an advertising division, and a radio division. In 1950 the name of the School of Journalism was changed to School of Journalism and Communications to describe more accurately its present functions. Directed by Professor Frederick Siebert, the School of Journalism and Communications is located in the modern Gregory Hall.

The journalism and communications program at the University of Illinois is based on the conviction that the student can profit best from a course of study that permits him to integrate professional subjects with general subjects.

The School also attempts through its faculty to provide services for the communications industry in the state. It works in close cooperation with the Illinois Press Association, the Illinois College Press Association, and the Illinois State High School Press Association. In addition, the School sponsors clinics and short courses for photographers, radio and advertising personnel, and publication editors.

College of Law

The College of Law was established in 1897. The primary purpose of the College is to train men and women for the practice of law. This training, however, is also beneficial to those who will become business executives and government administrators. On a different plane from its vocational aspects, law training is of value to leaders in public thought and in community service.

At this time, when the concepts of "freedom," "democracy," and "justice" are uppermost in the minds of men, the College of Law conceives as its highest responsibility the task of impressing upon its students the fact that democracy is justice and that freedom is rooted in the law.

The College is approved by the two accrediting agencies for law schools in the country. It is a charter member of the Association of American Law Schools, and was on the first list of schools approved by the American Bar Association. The standards of the College have not only reached the minima stated by these agencies but have always exceeded them. The College takes pride in the fact that it has been a pioneer for higher standards among the law schools of the nation.

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Dean Henning Larsen

Our University was incorporated in 1867 as the Illinois Industrial University. When instruction began in 1868, typical liberal arts courses were offered. Then, as now, these courses were looked upon as basic to general education. The present organization of the College came in 1913 as the result of a merger of the College of Literature and Arts with the College of Science. The College became the largest and most complex division of the University. It is the bearer of the old tradition of liberal education provided for in the General Curriculum and also in the Division of General Studies. The General Curriculum leads to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science, depending upon the field of concentration. The College also functions as a service unit for other colleges, offering fixed curricula in pre-professional training for medicine, dentistry, nursing, veterinary medicine, law, and journalism.

In cooperation with the College of Medicine, the College offers a professional course in Occupational Therapy leading to a degree in the College of Medicine.

Lincoln Hall

Library School

The University of Illinois Library School, established in 1893, is the oldest library school west of the Alleghanies. This school was located at the Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago until the summer of 1897 when it was moved to the University of Illinois in Urbana, where it is now situated on the third floor of the library.

The purpose of the Library School is to prepare administrators and assistants for service in libraries of public schools, colleges and universities, and specialized types such as hospital, newspaper, business, art, and music libraries.

Programs of study on both the undergraduate and graduate level may be followed. The group of undergraduate courses for which the B.S. in L.S. is awarded is considered basic preparation for advanced professional studies. The fifth year's work, for the M.S. in L.S. degree, is the minimum academic preparation; professional librarians of marked ability may go on for the degree of Doctor of Library Science.

At present the library school is rated by the American Library Association as one of the five leading schools in the field.

Director Seward Staley

George Huff Gymnasium

The School of Physical Education at the University of Illinois was established in 1933. Dr. Seward Charles Staley has held the position of Director of Physical Education for fourteen years.

Professional training work provided by this school includes divisions in general physical education and health education for men, physical education for women, health education, recreation, and dance.

The School also offers a wide variety of special conditioning courses to the general student body. All undergraduates are required by University regulations to obtain credit in four semesters of these courses, which include basic physical conditioning, correction of physical handicaps, recreation, and athletics.

One of the more unique features of the School is its program of research in physical fitness. This program, carried on in a special laboratory, is pointed at making basic studies of the complicated problem of physical fitness. The present unsettled conditions in the world have encouraged a greatly increased emphasis on physical fitness programs.

Division of Special Services for War Veterans

The Division of Special Services for War Veterans has been established to give the greatest service to veterans who wish to come to the University of Illinois. It is a pioneering educational venture, breaking traditional educational policies and allowing for an educational freedom which will best serve the needs of individual students.

The Division offers veterans an opportunity to reorient themselves academically through refresher work, reduced programs, and selection of courses; to move directly toward an educational objective by adding appropriate subjects to previously acquired credits; to attain an educational objective which involves subject matter offered in several colleges. The Division administers the educational programs of veterans whose special needs are not met by existing matter offered in several colleges. The Division administers the educational programs of veterans whose special needs are not met by existing curricula, and can certify such students for the Bachelor of Science degree. In addition, the Division studies the needs of returning veterans and informs the veterans of all the various services of the University.

Division of University Extension

Dean Robert Browne

Illini Hall

The Division of University Extension is the agency of the University responsible for the educational program addressed to the people of the state who are not enrolled as students in residence on any of its campuses. The larger part of the Extension offerings are made through extramural classes and correspondence courses; others yield no credit toward a degree.

Most of the Extension programs result from requests to the Division coming from individuals, business and industrial organizations, associations, state and local government agencies, and labor groups. The Division is able to respond to fewer than half the demands that it receives each year.

Last fall 54 credit and non-credit courses were scheduled with approximately 4,200 enrolled. Besides this, one hundred seven correspondence courses at college level were available for those whose circumstances compelled them to home study. With the aid of other colleges of the University, the Division conducts a large number of short courses.

College of Veterinary Medicine

The College of Veterinary Medicine trains veterinarians in the prevention and control of animal diseases to protect the livestock industry and also to protect the public health through suppression of animal diseases.

Established in June, 1944, by the Board of Trustees, the College initiated a two-year pre-veterinary program in September of 1945 and a four-year professional program in September of 1948, which is taken in addition to the two-year curricula. At the end of the second professional year veterinary students may qualify for the bachelor's degree, and they receive the degree of doctor of veterinary medicine upon completion of the fourth professional year.

To aid its teaching, the College maintains a diagnostic service and clinics for large and small animals. Veterinary research is conducted in the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station.

A new four-story Veterinary Medicine building for instruction of first and second year students and for research will be completed in 1951. The funds were appropriated by the 1944 General Assembly to construct this basic science unit.

The Armed Forces

The University of Illinois Corps of Cadets was established in 1868 under the provisions of the Morrill Land Grant Act. By that act the states received public land for the endowment, maintenance, and support of colleges which offered courses in the agricultural fields and in mechanical arts on the condition that military science be made a required course. Under present federal and state laws, able-bodied male students, with only a few exceptions, must complete satisfactorily a minimum of two years training in the Army, Navy, or Air Force ROTC programs.

The Army offers courses in Infantry, Armored Cavalry, Antiaircraft, Artillery, Corps of Engineers, Signal Corps, Ordnance, Quartermaster Corps, Transportation, and Security. The Army unit at Champaign is organized as a brigade, including 27 companies. Students at Navy Pier may take the basic work in anti-aircraft, artillery or military engineering. The Chicago professional colleges include a medical and a dental ROTC unit.

The Navy unit was established in 1947. Regular NROTC students are annually selected as a result of nation-wide competitive examinations.

Lt. Col. Dooley

Col. Hatch

They are subsidized in much the same manner as the veterans enrolled in the university under the "G.I. Bill." Contract NROTC students are selected within prescribed quotas from among the students as freshmen in the university. They are not subsidized; but, in common with Army and Air Force students, are paid a ration allowance during the third and fourth years. A third classification is the Naval Science student who is not subsidized and is not a member of NROTC but takes naval science as a regular academic subject. The strength of the NROTC unit is 206 men.

With the creation of the United States Air Force as a separate branch in the Department of Defense, the Air ROTC was organized at the University of Illinois in 1949. Specialized courses are given in aircraft maintenance and engineering. These and the Army courses in engineering, signal, and ordnance are generally restricted to students in the College of Engineering. The current Air ROTC strength is 850 men.

Graduates who complete four years of satisfactory work in the armed forces programs are commissioned into the reserves. Certain selected graduates are commissioned directly into the regular armed forces where the need for qualified officers has increased greatly. Quotas for deferment from Selective Service have been provided to enable qualified students to complete their college and ROTC courses.

Bronze Tablet - - 1950

The highest scholastic honor awarded to seniors at the University of Illinois is election to Bronze Tablet.

Maintenance of high scholarship throughout any one of the four years at the University is awarded by College Honors. A senior who has been in the upper three per cent of his class in his respective college during his junior and senior years fulfills Bronze Tablet requirements. In other words he must have received Junior and Senior Honors.

Seniors may also qualify for University Honors if they have earned College Honors twice and have maintained a scholastic average for their first seven semesters equal to or higher than the four-semester average of the lowest student recently chosen for University Honors.

Transfer students who have not been at the University for four semesters before graduation may achieve University Honors if their average for the past three semesters is equal to or higher than the four-semester average of the lowest student currently elected to Bronze Tablet. The average of their transferred credits for the year before they transferred must also be equal to the average needed for University Honors.

A special University of Illinois Scholarship Key is given to the recipients of University Honors.

The representative group of the student body is the Student Senate. The Student Senate promotes the general welfare of the student body and works in conjunction with the committee on Student Affairs in exercising general policy making authority over student affairs and activities.

Eighteen of the 34 members of this organization are elected by the student body in a general election each spring. The remaining sixteen are ex-officio members who represent the major campus activities and housing groups.

Any student may sponsor legislation by presenting it in appropriate written form. All students are welcome to attend Senate meetings and are free to speak before the group.

Permanent committees of the Senate are By-Laws, Finance, Public Relation, International Activities, Student Life, and Coordination. Nearly all Senate committees are open to students who are not senators.

This year the Student Senate of the University of Illinois was host to the National Student Association regional convention.

The Coordination Committee was established in 1948 by the Committee on Student Affairs and the Student Senate. It consists of eleven members. Eight are senators, representing each of the following: the Illini Union, Theater Guild, the Concert and Entertainment Board, and the four housing groups. The other one is an elected senator who serves as chairman. Other members are two faculty representatives from the Committee on Student Affairs, and an assistant from the Dean of Men's office.

The committee functions to minimize conflicts and undue competition in the presentation of public entertainment by student organizations. It recommends approval and denial of petitions for events and activities, and sets the time and place for these events. In the spring it prepares a calendar of events for the coming year. The committee approves the budgets for general University functions. It also supervises the printing, issuing, and auditing of tickets, and the distributing of complimentary tickets.

Three class officers and three senators constitute the representative body of the Senior Class through the Student Senate. Besides their work with the Student Senate the Senior Class officers supervise all class activities. The three senior senators hold major positions on the Senate; Randall West is president of the Senate, Delmer Murphy is chairman of the Coordination Committee, and Louise Hodam is on the Committee for Student Affairs.

One of their largest activities is the Senior Ball. This year the plans of the Senior Class aim to present the best Senior Ball ever held on the campus.

The Senior Announcements committee, which is headed by Helen Ross and Lillian Kimura, handles the details of obtaining senior announcements for both February and June graduates. The profits from the announcements are used to purchase a worthwhile gift to be presented to the University.

The class officers and senior senators attended the Big Ten Conference for senior class officers in order to learn more about student government from the practices of other schools.

Junior Class

The primary responsibility of the Junior Class officers is serving on the Student Senate. As representatives on Student Senate the junior officers serve on various committees and take active part in Senate meetings. As a class, working through the student governing body, the juniors supported several policies. Among those that are now in the process of being put into effect are a faculty-rating system and increased sidewalks and bicycle walks on campus. The class favored the idea of women cheerleaders which went into effect last semester. Although the motion was not passed, the junior class strongly recommended increased parking facilities on Wright Street.

The Junior Class officers also attempted to organize and once more hold their Junior Prom, but due to lack of response on the part of the Junior Class the project was cancelled.

Sophomore Class

The Sophomore Class officers serve as the link of the class with student government. The president, vice president, secretary-treasurer, and three senators, who are members of the Student Senate, direct the wishes of the Sophomore Class to the administration.

This group carries on correspondence with other colleges and universities concerning the particular problems of underclassmen and how these problems can be met by efficient administration. The Student Senate this year is studying possibilities for setting up academic courses for freshmen orientation and for activity leadership training.

Moreover, the Sophomore Class officers plan and execute programs for the class as a whole. With six representatives serving on the Senate and various Senate committees, the Sophomores were sure of reliable representation.

The Freshman Council officially represents the freshman class. The council is composed of twelve members; ten are regular members and two serve as alternates. These members are chosen by petition and interview. The main duty of the council is to establish communication with the freshmen in order to further the interests of the class. Through projects such as the orientation of incoming freshmen, the council is benefiting its class.

The most important project of orientation carried out by the 1949-50 Freshman Council was the editing and publishing of a handbook, "Facts for Freshmen." The information contained in this booklet was gathered from a questionnaire distributed among the freshmen by the council. A class dance, the Strawfoot Shuffle, was sponsored in an effort to acquaint new freshmen with their classmates. On Activity Night during Freshman Week, the council set up a general information booth.

The 1950-51 council followed a similar program. They revised and added information to the booklet, "Facts for Freshmen." An Activity Night at the Illini Union was conducted by the council for new students entering in February. The freshmen also had an information booth in the Armory during the "Sweet Sixteen" carnival in March. A '54 Talent Day, featuring the election of the freshman queen, was also sponsored by the Freshman Council for the first time.

Freshman Council 1950-51

The representative body of the student officers at the University of Illinois is the Military council. Meeting once a week, the council discusses problems that arise in the various phases of ROTC training and make recommendations to the commandant. The council sponsors military functions and represents the Army on combined Armed Forces functions.

During the past year the council was responsible for the co-sponsorship of the Military Ball, publication of the Millini, interunit sports program, and planned and supervised ceremonies.

The representatives that make up the council are the cadet regimental commander, the executive officer, the highest ranking senior cadet from each of the nine branches, the editor of the Millini, and one representative from each of the three honorary fraternities — Scabbard and Blade, Phalanx, and Pershing Rifles. The president of the council is Cadet Colonel Daniel Gauger, armor, and the vice president is Cadet Lieutenant Colonel George Cook, corps of engineers.

The governing body of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training corps is the Air Force council. The council not only represents the Air Force cadet wing in matters of student interest but also cooperates with the Military council and the Navy council on all military functions, such as the Military Forces ball and the Armed Forces Day ceremonies. The Armed Forces council, which is made up of two representatives from each of the three ROTC departments, sponsors these functions.

The student representatives of the Air Force council are the cadet colonel and his wing staff, the cadet commander of each squadron, and one representative from each of the combined branch military honorary organizations. An officer of the Air Force ROTC faculty staff acts as advisor.

The cadet colonel, who is in command of all Air Force ROTC cadets, is chosen from the advanced course on a competitive basis. His duties are to administer all policies of the Air Force science department and to preside at all Air Force council meetings.

Navy Council is the governing body for midshipmen. Its purpose is to advise and recommend to the professor of naval science on matters relating to N.R.O.T.C. affairs. Its other purpose is to sponsor and administrate activities which will benefit N.R.O.T.C. students.

The council is composed of twelve men. Eight of the members are elected, two from each class. The two company commanders, the executive officer, and the batallion commander complete the council.

Following its purpose the group sponsors social functions such as a steak fry, record dances, and informal get-togethers. This group handles the naval unit's intramural program. It serves as a liaison between the other armed forces and the navy unit. The council sends a member to represent the navy on committees of the combined services. Such a representative helps choose the chairman for the Military Ball. The council also makes arrangements for the Navy's participation in retreats, honors day, and other military functions.

All University Forum

Each year the All University Forum presents a series of speeches and a panel discussion on current subjects of interest to students. The speakers are experts in their respective fields and prominent in public life.

The committee of the All University Forum, which is composed of six faculty members and six students, originated in 1944. Professor Edward Cleary is chairman of the committee. The committee selects the speakers and makes arrangements for the lectures.

This year the panel discussion featured Norman Thomas, five-time socialist candidate for President; Howard Bowen, Dean of the College of Commerce at the University of Illinois; and Alfred Haake, industrial economist and consultant to General Motors Corporation. The subject under discussion was "Is Socialism Good for America?"

The lectures are supported from general University funds and therefore are free to students and public.

Alfred Haake

Dean Howard Bowen

Allan Nevins, professor of American History at Columbia, disclosed "What Makes a Biography Great." For many years Nevins was an active journalist, working for several New York newspapers. His two most famous biographies are "The Diary of J. Q. Adams" and "Letters and Journal of Brand Witlock." Nevins was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for biography in 1937 and 1932.

Brigadier General Frank Howley, former director of the United States military government in Berlin, talked of "Fear for Breakfast." Howley may well be considered an expert in Russian diplomacy due to his many negotiations and settlements with the Soviets before and during the Berlin blockade. A recent book by Howley, "Berlin Command," tells of these experiences.

Walter Reuther, president of the UAW and vice president of the CIO, discussed "Democracy and the Challenge for Peace." Throughout his life Reuther has been active in the organization of worker's unions. Besides his many union activities, Reuther has sponsored pre-war and post-war plans for the conversion of industry.

Carl Sandburg, noted author and lecturer, not only lectured on American literature during "An Evening with Sandburg" but also gave readings of his poems and played folksongs from "The American Songbag." Some of his best known works are "The People, Yes," "Chicago Poems," and "Remembrance Rock." Sandburg is also an authority on Abraham Lincoln.

Marc Connelly, renowned author, lecturer, and teacher, spoke on "What I Have Learned From the Theatre." Among Connelly's laurels is the Pulitzer Prize for his play, "The Green Pastures." His reputation as an educator is exemplified by a recent Broadway play, "At War with the Army," which is a product of his play-writing course at Yale.

Gene Turner, president

The Interfraternity Council of the University of Illinois promotes the interests and ideas of the social fraternities on campus as well as administering interfraternity policies and University policies pertaining to fraternities. The council, which is composed of two chapter representatives from each of the fifty-six fraternities, discuss such current problems as pledge training, house management, house finances, scholarship, and activities.

The Illinois council, the largest and oldest in the nation, holds an important position as a leader in fraternity self-government. Illinois was one of the first universities to establish the post of Assistant Dean of Men for Fraternities, a position which was taken over by Dean George H. Bargh in September of this year.

Working with the Interfraternity Council as an advisory board is the Board of Fraternity Affairs. This board is composed of three staff fraternity men, three local fraternity alumni, and the five undergraduate officers of the Interfraternity Council.

The representative body of the independent men on the campus of the University of Illinois is the Men's Independent Association. The Association is a student-administered and student-established organization. The strength of this organization gives these students the power to exert influence in the formulation of general policies concerning student welfare.

All the independent men are represented on the M.I.A. through the organization of houses with four or more residents. Each of these residences elects a representative to the M.I.A. council. The council is the policy-making body for the organization and decides all matters of major importance. The Directorate, which is composed of the officers and committee chairmen of M.I.A., is the executive body of the Association.

The M.I.A. has a planned program of student activities in the scholastic, athletic, social, and recreational fields. This program offers opportunity and incentive for leadership to the independent men.

Panhellenic is the governing and policy-making body of all the sororities at the University of Illinois. Its policy is to create friendship within the fraternity system as well as between the fraternity and independent associations, and to establish a high standard for scholarship and intellectual accomplishments.

Panhellenic is composed of two governing bodies: the presidents' council, composed of chapter presidents; and the executive committee, composed of Panhellenic officers, the faculty advisor, departmental chairmen, and junior departmental chairmen. The departments covered by Panhellenic are social, scholarship, rushing, pledge, activity, and Shi-Ai.

The junior departmental chairmen work with Junior Panhellenic which consists of all sorority pledges. Its organization and purpose is patterned after Panhellenic.

Included in the activities of Panhellenic are the fall scholarship dessert, the spring banquet, and the pledge banquet. It also sponsors the annual Panhellenic Ball.

The Women's Group System, an organization of independent women, is the first of its kind on any campus. The organized women's houses, women's residence halls, and other independent groups are all parts of the W.G.S. At the council meetings, held once a week, the house presidents discuss the group's activities, receive announcements of campus events, and handle petitioning. An executive council, composed of the officers, major chairmen, and advisors, serves as the supervisory body.

The purpose of Women's Group System is to be of service to the campus and to encourage scholarship and activities among its members. It sponsors district teas, a president's banquet, and scholarship and activity teas at which awards are given to the outstanding students. Climaxing the year is the W.G.S. Award Tea. The W.G.S. has participated in Watcheka Sing, the Mother's Day luncheon, and the Dad's Day program. Working with the Men's Independent Association, they present the Dad's Day stunt show and publish a newspaper, "The Indee."

Panhellenic presented its annual ball, "Southern Silhouette," on November 10, 1950 with music by Ralph Flanagan and his band. The decorations featured two large silhouettes above the grandstand. A large tree was in the center of the dance floor, and around the balcony hung colonial bouquets of the respective houses' flowers.

The highlight of the ball was the presentation of twenty-six "ideal" sorority girls, representing each house in Panhellenic. Each girl was presented with an engraved compact.

Senior Ball

Right: Ted Weems and his orchestra

The Senior Ball, which was held in Huff Gym, May 20, 1950, was one of the outstanding dances of the year. Ted Weems and his orchestra supplied the music for the occasion.

In keeping with spring, the ball featured an "old-lamplighter" and springtime flowers. Glass panels fronted the entrance to the gym. Twirling flowered discs hung from the ceiling above the gardenia-filled pool in the center of the floor. The "shadow box" bids were designed by Lee Lipson.

The dance chairmen were Robert Gand, publicity; Lee Lipson, decorations; Betty Altenburg, bids and announcements; Carl Falk, general chairman; James Nelson, associate chairman; Gloria Fletcher, entertainment; John Lindemann, business manager; and George Flower, arrangements chairman.

Plowboy Prom

Barbara Thiebaud, queen of "The County Fair"

"The County Fair" was the theme of the 1950 Plowboy Prom co-sponsored by the Home Economic and Agriculture clubs on April 28th. Girls in gingham dresses and fellows in denims danced in Huff Gym to the music of Al Trace and Ted Mikita's bands. The theme of the dance was carried out by a backdrop featuring Elsie and Elmer, the Borden cows, and booths presenting county fair exhibits. Each girl received a vegetable corsage.

Barbara Thiebaud, a sophomore in home economics, was selected as queen of "The County Fair."

Maizie Angier and Lyle Toepke were co-chairmen of the dance. The committee chairmen were Gilda Gleim, Margie Groves, Louise Hodam, Constance Walker, William Dimond, Robert Loitz, Ernest Painter, and Lawrence Zuckerman.

The Illini Union

The Illini Union symbolizes the joining of academic and social life at the University of Illinois. It is a social center bringing students, faculty, and alumni closer together.

A self-supporting organization, the Union receives its funds from the five-dollar fee per semester paid by all students. Additional income is received from such events as Homecoming Stunt Show, Club Commons, Union Movies, and The Spring Musical. Consequently the Union is able to support nineteen nonprofit events. Coffee Hours, Block "I", Town Meetings, Social Forums, and Open Houses are but a few of these.

Always busy, the Union concerns itself with student life and interests outside of the classroom. It provides lounges, food services, meeting rooms, game rooms, bowling alleys, and a browsing library.

Over 15,000 persons enter the building daily; approximately 8,500 meals are served; and over 1,750 visit the Main Desk for newspapers, cigarettes, and candy. The Illini Union Bookstore on Wright Street is a profit-sharing enterprise run for the benefit of students. Dividends are paid each semester.

Student activity work is governed by The Illini Union Board. It consists of six faculty-staff advisors, a student representative from each of the four housing groups, a student president and treasurer, and six student directors. The latter are in charge of the activities of six departments: Dances, Student Services, Recreation, Student-Alumni Relations, Entertainment, and Public Relations. The work of these departments is carried on by thirty-two committees plus their guiding major and sub chairmen.

Campus Chest

Campus Chest is an organization that is the result of the students' demand for a unification of charity drives. It is an organization founded at the University of Illinois and is now recognized as a major independent activity.

Funds for the Campus Chest are allocated in a one-day drive each fall, through the Spring Carnival, and by special drives such as the book drive and the clothing drive.

Funds are distributed by an Allocation and Advisory Board composed of representatives from major student organizations on campus. Within the past two years this board has distributed $32,000 to local, national, and international charities and relief groups. Campus Chest has alleviated the problem of constant solicitation of the faculty and student body.

Y.M.C.A.

The University of Illinois Young Men's Christian Association presents an opportunity for personal growth and a challenge to join with like-minded students and faculty men in a program of campus and community service. The Y.M.C.A. is a non-denominational group of Christian workers seeking to make the life of Jesus vital in every phase of University activity. The "Y" is in its seventy-eighth year of serving the Illinois campus.

There are more than 400 students participating in committee service. The committees operating are in International Friendship, Christian Emphasis, Boys' Work, Family Living, Public Relations, Social Recreation, Freshman Fellowship, Displaced Persons, Fireside Discussions, and Publications.

The Y.M.C.A. building, built in 1938, provides comfortable lounges, a check room with free service, an information desk, quiet study rooms, rooms for committee and organization meetings, a table tennis room for use by members and guests, and housing lists for weekend guests.

Under the guidance of Carol Thomas, editor, and Dick Rodgers, Joan Reeve, and Gary Magee, associate editors, the Illio editorial staff has worked hard toward a goal of presenting an annual of interest to all students.

The editorial staff is composed of five sections — Activities, Organizations and Illinois, Residences and Religious organizations, Sports, and Seniors. Nine assistant editors organize and design the layout of their respective sections.

The work of writing copy, cropping pictures, typing, and filing is assigned to the freshmen and sophomores. Each spring the freshmen and sophomores take part in a training program. The program is set up to give practice in designing layout, writing copy, and cropping pictures.

Led by Naomi Streeter, business manager, and John Almburg and Joan Williams, associate managers, the business staff has managed to maintain its present circulation despite a decrease in enrollment.

The junior staff is made up of eight assistant business managers who are divided into three groups: advertising, finance, and sales. Under the junior staff the sophomores and freshmen solicit advertising, carry on selling campaigns, help distribute books in the spring, and do routine office work.

The business staff is also in charge of questionnaires filed by houses, organizations and graduating seniors.

Junior copy editors: Bernard Gould, Anne Sonopol, Wayne Woltman

Junior copy editors: Muriel Herzberg, Mel Garbar, Barbara Williams, Sey Adelman

The editorial staff of The Daily Illini, now in its 80th year, is composed entirely of students. Its policies, decided by the student editorial board, are in no way connected with University administration.

Operating more like a business than an activity, The Daily Illini provides experience in the field of journalism. Writing copy, editing wire news, and making-up editorial pages are a few of the jobs open to students interested in obtaining journalistic experience.

The student-controlled newspaper is owned by the Illini Publishing company. This year four faculty advisers were appointed to aid in planning training programs for the newer reporters and to offer criticism to the senior editors. The Daily Illini owns its own mechanical department and editorial offices.

Daily Illini Advertising Staff

This year the Advertising department of The Daily Illini is under a new organizational set-up. This department is supervised by the advertising director, Vinton Gubbins. He is aided by two assistants, the display and classified advertising managers. The Advertising department is responsible for such operations as the solicitation and make-up of advertisements, special services to advertisers, the placement of all advertising, and the activities connected with these functions.

Since The Daily Illini runs in direct competition with the two local dailies, staff members have excellent opportunities to learn the many phases of newspaper advertising.

The department itself is divided into two staffs. The paper acquaints the faculty and students with each other's activities. It also carries college news to farmers, farm and home advisors, and vocational agriculture teachers throughout the state. It gives students in agricultural journalism a practical laboratory publication.

Photographic Staff

Howard Wedelstaedt,

James Winston,

The Illini Publishing Company maintains its own photographic staff that takes pictures for University student publications: the Illio, The Daily Illini, the Technograph, the Rural Observer, and the Trader. The 1951 staff, which was directed by Howard Wedelstaedt, first semester photo chief; Edward Wojtas, second semester photo chief; and James Winston, assistant photo chief, had its office and darkroom in the basement of Illini Hall.

The photographers provide their own cameras, but receive the rest of their supplies and equipment from the Illini Publishing Company. The photographic staff works in conjunction with the editorial staffs of the individual publications to produce better yearbooks, newspapers, and magazines through the use of photographs. The 1950 staff inaugurated a program of training for prospective staff members.

Theatre Guild

The Illini Theatre Guild offers ample opportunity to gain responsibility and recognition on campus to students interested in any phase of dramatic arts. The Guild carries on an intensive program of theatre experience through its major productions and its various workshops. It offers opportunity not only to actors but also to those interested in design, construction, costuming, publicity, or business. New members of the Guild alternate between these various stage crews in order to gain experience in all fields.

Bottom row: William North, Jo Anne Eades, secretary; Robert Mallary, chairman; Noreen Zaks, Scott Bohon

The executive authority of the Guild is vested in a board of directors while the organizational structure is based on three levels of managerial positions: student staff managers, associates, and assistants.

This year the Guild presented seven major productions selected from both contemporary and classical sources. There are three types of workshops: the actor's workshop which gives additional acting and directing experience to more advanced members in the Guild, a showcase workshop which is a proving ground for novice actors, and a workshop for the performance of plays written by students. The Guild also presents a series of contemporary plays for the Festival of Contemporary Arts.

Star Course

The University of Illinois Star Course presents a series of concerts featuring famous musical artists and professional entertainers in the field of music, dance, and drama. A well-rounded and varied program is planned with the object of encouraging cultural advancement.

Star Course is operated by students, but the Concert and Entertainment board, a group of 12 student-faculty directors, controls all finances, makes final decisions concerning the selection of artists, supervises the appointment of staff members, and determines policies. Star Course is conducted on a non-profit basis. The student members of the board are selected by the Student Senate, and the faculty members are appointed by the president of the University.

Student managers handle Star Course activities. Freshmen staff members serve as ushers. This job not only gives freshmen a good start on one of the major activities on campus, but also gives them an opportunity to attend many of the concerts while serving in their capacity as ushers.

The University Concert and Entertainment Board: Doreen North, Robert Lincicome, Robert Cole, Prof. Kenneth Carlston, Prof. John Kuypers, Prof. George Clark, Prof. Helmut Rehder, Charles DeLong, William Shepherd, Kathryn Clark

Junior managers: Lyle Schertz, Mary Jane Fouts

Sophomores may become sophomore managers; their duties involve handling much of the office work such as preparing sales letters, assisting with ushering and taking tickets at the concerts, and learning about the workings of Star Course.

Eight junior managers are selected from among qualified sophomore managers. These managers sell tickets, arrange for publicity, keep many of the records, entertain artists, and make all arrangements necessary to present a concert. These eight junior managers maintain regular office hours during school sessions and are responsible for directing the work of the sophomore staff.

From among the junior managers, two senior managers are selected on the basis of outstanding service. These two managers are the over-all directors of Star Course. They work with the board and help formulate the general policies. The senior managers work out plans and budgets which provide the working pattern for the entire organization.

University Choir

This year was one of great growth and achievement for the campus choral groups. In several instances the size of the choruses was the greatest in the history of the University.

The University Choir, formerly known as the A Cappella Choir, presented fine concerts of a wide variety of music both on campus and throughout the state. Along with the Oratorio Society, the University Choir appeared under the guest direction of Paul Hindemith, world-renown composer. In conjunction with prominent soloists and the University Symphony orchestra, the Oratorio Society, newly organized this year, presented Haydn's "The Creation" and Bach's "Mass in B Minor".

The University Chorus presented cantatas by Vaughan Williams, Bach, Brahms, and Haydn. Always a campus favorite, the Men's Glee Club reached a new high in membership and made numerous appearances, including a Christmas concert with the Women's Glee Club and a successful tour of the state. In addition to the Christmas concert, the Women's Glee Club made other campus concert appearances, presenting selections drawn from both the old masters and contemporary composers.

Membership in the campus choral groups is open to all persons connected with the University. Try-outs are held at the beginning of each semester to select members.

The University of Illinois Sinfonietta, numbering about thirty-five players, is one of the University's top instrumental groups. Membership in this organization is limited to the most advanced players on the undergraduate and graduate levels, excluding freshmen.

This organization is a highly mobile unit since one of its important functions is to stimulate and encourage the performance and enjoyment of fine music throughout the state of Illinois. This year the Sinfonietta has performed approximately fifteen concerts for high school students, mainly in the northern section of the state. Besides presenting concerts the members of the orchestra conduct clinic sessions for the students.

This year, in addition to its regular fall concert on the campus, the Sinfonietta performed with the distinguished Polish violinist Szymon Goldberg on the Star Course. During March and April the Sinfonietta will join the University Symphony orchestra in two special Contemporary Arts Festival concerts to be conducted by Paul Hindemith, world famous composer, and Rafael Kubelik, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

University Orchestra

The University of Illinois Symphony orchestra, numbering approximately eighty players, ranks with the best college and university orchestras in the country. Membership in this organization is open to any student who can qualify as well as townspeople and faculty members from the University at large.

The orchestra plays standard masterpieces of symphonic literature and a good share of contemporary music as well. This year, in addition to its regular fall concert, the University Symphony orchestra performed the Beethoven Violin Concerto with Szymon Goldberg, the noted Polish violinist, on a Star Course concert. During March and April the orchestra members will have the privilege of playing under two well-known musicians of our day — Paul Hindemith, the world-renowned composer; and Rafael Kubelik, the new conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

A new addition to the orchestra's activities will be introduced this spring when a formal evening concert will be given featuring senior and graduate music students in solos with orchestral accompaniment. Student soloists for this program will be chosen by competition, and a faculty auditioning committee will name the winners.

Another University orchestra that provides orchestral training is the University of Illinois Orchestra II. The function of Orchestra II is two-fold. It serves, on the one hand, as a training ground for music students who will later take their place as members of the more advanced musical groups on campus. It also provides an opportunity for students in all departments of the University to supplement their studies with some active participation in music-making.

The personnel of the orchestra includes not only students from all colleges of the University but also faculty members and townspeople as well. During the current year Orchestra II has played music by such present-day masters as Holst, Vaughn Williams, and Hindemith.

Concert Band

The University of Illinois Concert Band has set a high standard of symphonic band performance in the college field. This standard has been achieved and maintained through the expert direction and interpretation of Director Emeritus A. A. Harding and Mark H. Hindsley. The organization and perfection of the Concert Band is the highest of the University of Illinois Bands.

Also adding to its fame is its library, which includes the entire library of the late John Philip Sousa and the symphonic transcriptions of Dr. Harding.

Among the yearly activities of the Concert Band are the Sousa Memorial program; the Annual Band Clinic, which is held for the educational benefit of college and high school directors from all over the nation; the Anniversary Concert in March; the President's Concert; regular radio broadcasts over WILL; twilight concerts; and graduation exercises. The Concert Band also gives concerts for high schools and other institutions throughout the state.

Mark Hindsley, director

Everett Kisinger, director

University Bands are composed of three separate units. One of these units is the First Regimental Band directed by Everett D. Kisinger. Around this band is built the famous University of Illinois Marching Band seen at all football games. At the end of football season the band becomes a concert organization which presents a series of concerts each year. Thus over the year its members receive interesting and varied musical experience.

Band members receive advanced training through special sectional rehearsals. As they develop top standards of playing ability, they have opportunities for promotion to the Concert Band as replacements for graduating members. At the Annual Band Clinic the band becomes a laboratory for band directors from all over the nation. Here the band reads, for criticism, unreleased music scores which publishers have submitted. The band participates in twilight concerts and on broadcasts over radio station WILL. It also functions at important military ceremonies.

Second Regimental Band

The Second Regimental Band performs the important task of training future members of the Concert and First Regimental Bands. It is conducted by Lyman Starr and is divided into two sections, A and B. The members of the Second Regimental Band are mostly underclassmen.

Each year several members are selected to augment the regular Football Band at the Homecoming and Dads Day games. Other activities of the band include playing for pep rallies, furnishing marching music at military ceremonies and formations, performing new publications at the annual Band Clinic, presenting an annual formal concert during the Twilight Concert series, and playing for radio broadcasts over station WILL.

Football Marching Band

The University of Illinois Football Band is one of the finest and largest marching, playing, and singing organizations of its kind. For over a quarter of a century this group has been entertaining Illini football spectators with outstanding formations and harmonious arrangements of both concert and popular music.

In 1950, under the direction of Everett Kisinger, the Marching Illini exhibited several new arrangements. Among them were some concert feature numbers; these included: "Rumbalero," "Walls of Jerico," and "Lady of Spain." They also presented

"Over the Rainbow" in a cappella choir style. The band presented "Mr. Touchdown U.S.A." a month before the music was published.

At the Ohio State game the band gave a parody on Ohio State's marching style to "Across the Field." The band traveled to Michigan this year for their out of state game and performed in a 35 mile per hour snow storm.

Members of the Concert, First Regimental, and Second Regimental bands make up the Marching Band. This musical team goes through a work week of over 1100 man hours in order to thrill Illini fans.

Beta Gamma Sigma

Beta Gamma Sigma is the national honor society for outstanding students in the school of commerce. It was organized at the University of Illinois on February 26, 1913. The membership is limited to those men and women who rank in the upper two per cent of the senior class. These students are selected through an election held by the active student and faculty members. Election to Beta Gamma Sigma is based on promise of marked success in each member's chosen field.

Since its beginning, Beta Gamma Sigma has expanded nationally until today there are 52 chapters located in the leading educational institutions throughout the country. Their colleges and universities make up the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business. Its alumni group numbers more than fifteen thousand and includes many leading businessmen and industrialists.

Sigma Tau

Sigma Tau provides for the recognition of the personal attainment of engineering students, encourages fellowship among colleagues training for the engineering profession, and promotes the interests of the engineering college.

Sigma Tau was founded February 22, 1904, with the desire to be of service to engineering education. The symbols chosen for the fraternity were the Pyramid, the Sphinx, and the Rail Section. These symbols signify the purposes of the organization which are the use of actions rather than words for justification of its existence, progress, and stability.

From a humble beginning of a single chapter, Sigma Tau has grown to 26 active chapters representing many of the major engineering colleges of the United States. It has the distinction of being the first honor society to be admitted to full membership in the Association of College Honor Societies after the formation of the Association in 1925.

Phi Eta Sigma is the honorary fraternity for high scholarship among freshman men. Founded at the University of Illinois in 1923, it is rapidly becoming nationwide with 72 chapters on university or college campuses. The fraternity was organized by Dean Thomas Arkle Clark for the purpose of promoting and honoring high scholarship.

To be eligible for membership, a freshman man must maintain a 4.5 average or better during his first semester or by the end of his freshman year. In the fall a smoker is held for men who at that time have a 4.0 average or better in order to encourage them to maintain their high scholarship throughout the year.

Initiation ceremonies, held in the fall and in the spring, include a banquet in honor of the new initiates, the initiation ritual, and a talk given by some eminent personality on the campus. The honor and privilege of wearing the Phi Eta Sigma key is also awarded the newly initiated members.

The Agricultural Club is composed of 400 students enrolled in the College of Agriculture or related fields. The Club was founded in 1895 and is designed to promote and develop interest in agriculture. The officers and members direct the many events on the agriculture campus. Some of these events are: the All-Ag Field Day, the Aggie Talent Show, Spring Judging Contests, the All-Ag Spring Open House, and the Plow Boy Prom.

As subsidiary organizations of the Agriculture Club, there are eight clubs which promote particular phases of agriculture. These clubs by name are: the Dairy Production Club, the Dairy Technology Club, the Agriculture Economics Club, the Agricultural Education Club, the Field and Furrow Club, the Horticulture Club, the Poultry Club, and the Hoof and Horn Club.

The presidents of the subsidiary clubs and the editor of the Illini Rural Observer compose the Agriculture Council which coordinates the activities of these clubs.

Alpha Phi Omega is a national service fraternity composed of college and university men who are or have been affiliated with the Boy Scouts. The members must also have a desire to render service to others and have a satisfactory scholastic standing. The selection of pledges is made by a board consisting of the fraternity officers.

The purpose of the organization is to assemble college men in the fellowship of the Scout Oath and Law. Alpha Phi Omega is governed by an executive council of nine officers and six major committee chairmen. It presents a comprehensive program of service, leadership, and social functions for its members. Some of its major activities are the annual Ugly Man contest for charity, the guide and travel committee for the Illini Union, a vocational guidance conference for high school seniors, and participation in the spring carnival. Alpha Phi Omega works to develop friendship and to serve the youth of America.

Delta Sigma Omicron is a fraternity dedicated to the total rehabilitation and social integration of all physically handicapped people, principally thru the media of self-administration, broad and varied participation, and higher education. It has contributed time, money, and knowledge to research in physical medicine and rehabilitation programs. It also sponsors wheelchair football, basketball, baseball, bowling, and other adapted sports and therapeutic athletics in cooperation with the corrective therapy and rehabilitation program.

Delta Sigma Omicron sponsors the Ted Lesley Memorial Scholarship Fund and the Harold Scharper Memorial Benefits Fund. Both are directed to aiding the physically handicapped in many ways.

By their many contributions and vigorous activity, members are fulfilling their motto: "To exercise our abilities to a maximum so as to minimize our disabilities, that we might live most and serve best."

Home Economics Club

The Isabel Bevier Home Economics Club, the first university home economics club of its kind founded in this country, originated at the University of Illinois. The principles upon which the organization was founded were to further develop interest in home economics at the University of Illinois and to promote social interest among members and faculty. The club also stimulates a basic interest and an increased knowledge of the professional world of home economics and develops appreciation of the home.

Membership is open to home economics majors enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Agriculture, or Education. Meetings are designed to acquaint the girls with the department through tours, debates, movies, and style shows.

Among the special activities are the All-Ag Field Day and the Plow Boy Prom. The All-Ag Field Day is held in the fall and is a campus sports festival. Other activities include the Freshman Tea, the Christmas Party, the Home Economics Spring Banquet, and social hours with the Agriculture Club.

The name of the freshman girl attaining the highest scholarship during the year is inscribed on a plaque which hangs in Bevier Hall. Miss Ritta Whitesel and Miss Dorothy Durrell are the club's advisors.

The Hoof and Horn Club, one of the subsidiaries of the Agriculture Club, is an organization for agriculture students who are interested in animal science. One of the purposes of this organization is to enable students to become better acquainted with their fellow students, their professors, and a number of outstanding men in the field of animal husbandry. By serving this organization and attending the monthly meetings, the students obtain a much broader view of the animal science industry and become more aware of the latest developments and improvements in livestock production. The experience and knowledge gained in the organization can be applied to classroom work as well as to actual use on the farm.

The club sponsors two large events annually. The Little International, consisting of a quality horse show and other entertainment, is presented in the fall. The funds raised in this show help finance the Intercollegiate Fatstock and Meats Judging teams.

In the spring the club sponsors a Meat and Livestock Judging Contest which is open to all agriculture students. There are prizes awarded and the event offers an excellent chance for livestock judges to show their skill and for amateurs to gain new experience in this field.

All students registered in the University who have received credit for two semesters of accountancy are eligible for membership in the Accountancy Club. The purposes of the organization are to inform members of professional and honorary achievements in the College of Commerce, to foster interests in the science of accounting, and to promote understanding and fellowship between faculty and students in the College of Commerce. Monthly meetings featuring talks by prominent accountants are designed to acquaint the members with current trends in accounting.

The executive committee of the Accountancy Club is composed of the Senior and Junior Councils. The Senior Council handles the publicity, the membership drives of the club, and the selection of speakers. Sophomore and Junior members are eligible to serve on the Junior Council.

The Accountancy Club, in promoting understanding and fellowship among the members, sponsors numerous faculty and student athletic events during the year.

Praetorians is an organization of independent men chosen from various houses on campus. Its purpose is to offer its members the social and cultural advantages of an organized group.

The first chapter of Praetorians was founded at Northwestern University. The local chapter was organized in 1946, and now has affiliated undergraduate and alumni chapters on other mid-western campuses.

Each year Praetorians awards a cash scholarship to a worthy student selected on the basis of need and merit. The funds for this scholarship are raised by yearly dues. The organization takes an active part in intramural athletics and plans an extensive social program for its members. The members also take part in campus solicitations for charity.

Since Praetorians is a relatively new organization it hopes to increase its membership and its number of affiliated chapters, and thereby offer its facilities to a greater number of independent men.

The Rifle and Pistol Club has officially represented the University of Illinois in intercollegiate shoulder-to-shoulder and pistol matches and is a member of the National Rifle Association and affiliated with the Illowa and Midwestern tournaments. For any given match, members compete for positions on the team by a continuous qualification program, with the five high men at the time of the match winning a berth on the team.

Since the renovation of the club in 1946, the teams have taken many titles and trophies among which have been: team first place in the first University of Illinois Invitational; team third place in the Big Ten; Open Championship of the iron sight division of the Illinois State Match; team second in the Intercollegiate Regional with one man winning a position on the All-American team.

All undergraduates, graduates, faculty and staff are eligible for membership. The team firing is done by the undergraduate members.

Shi-Ai

Shi-Ai, first established at Northwestern University in 1920, is the society which honors sophomore sorority women for outstanding work in all-University activities. Every fall the two most outstanding sophomores from each of the sororities on campus are chosen to become pledges of Shi-Ai. During the pledging period, the two new pledges must do their original stunts at all sorority houses. This honorary society enables these sorority women to promote and strengthen inter-sorority friendship by their exchange of ideas pertaining to matters of common interest.

As welfare projects, Shi-Ai gives Christmas gifts and writes letters to brighten the lives of war orphans overseas. It holds a party for the children at the Huling Orphan's Home in Rantoul. Shi-Ai also sponsors the annual Shi-Ai Sing which is given on the Friday night of the campus Mother's Day week-end. In connection with the sing, Shi-Ai sponsors a milk fund drive. The money received is used to provide milk for needy families of Urbana and Champaign. In cooperation with Alpha-Chron, independent women's honorary, it has helped plan and present a dance. This provides a link between independent and sorority women. The girls of Shi-Ai play a significant part in university life by contributing their time toward university and community service.

Skull and Crescent is a national fraternity honoring sophomore men who are outstanding in activities and scholarship. Its members are chosen from the twenty-five oldest fraternities on campus, and its primary objective is to create and promote interfraternity fellowship and to encourage freshmen to excel both in scholarship and campus activities.

One of the main activities of the fraternity is the annual pajama race held in the armory. This year thirty-four fraternities competed in the relays with Alpha Tau Omega taking first place honors and Sigma Alpha Epsilon taking the second place cup.

Bi-monthly dinner meetings are held on a rotating host basis at the member houses, where various subjects are discussed in an effort to further good will among fraternities. Other social events sponsored by the organization are an annual dinner dance at the Urbana-Lincoln Hotel, a pledge banquet, and an exchange with the members of Shi Ai, the women's sophomore honorary.

Each year the new initiates earn Skull and Crescent pins, which are passed down from the previous members, and they in return present the alums with an honorary paddle. The success of Illinois' Helmet chapter this year, as always, depended on the support and enthusiasm of its members; and it continues to maintain its traditions as it has for over thirty years.

Star and Scroll

Star and Scroll is a sophomore activity honorary society which was founded at the University of Illinois for the purpose of creating and promoting interfraternity fellowship, raising freshman scholarship standards, and perpetuating the traditions of the University.

Two men are chosen each year from each member fraternity on the basis of their freshman scholarship and their potential success as a campus leader in extracurricular activities.

Star and Scroll highlights in the school year of 1950-51 included the annual formal dance, which was held on November 3 at the Urbana-Lincoln Hotel, the selection of a Star and Scroll queen from the candidates representing each of the member houses, and the presentation at the dance of the scholarship trophy to the house that possessed the outstanding freshman scholarship average for the past semester. At present, the organization is planning an extensive expansion program with the purpose of incorporating other fraternities on the campus into the organization, and also an increased social program with various sororities and other women's groups.

The combined efforts, enthusiastic support, and close cooperation of all the members resulted in a successful dance and is indicative of the interfraternity spirit of fellowship that exists in Star and Scroll.

Tomahawk is an activity honorary which recognizes the achievements of independent sophomore men. Members are chosen at the end of their freshman year by the recommendations of their particular activity. Each activity leader recommends three outstanding freshmen who show promise of further advancement in the activity. From these names the members of Tomahawk choose those whom they consider the most capable of carrying on the high standards of the pledge and constitution. All of the major activities on campus in which men may participate have representatives in the organization.

The purpose of Tomahawk is to give recognition for outstanding work in activities, to inspire those persons chosen for membership to greater achievement during their remaining years at the University, to act as a service organization on the campus, and to strengthen bonds of friendship among independent men.

The organization of Tomahawk at Illinois has a history extending through two decades. It was not until 1949, however, that Tomahawk became a national fraternity. At that time it united with student groups from Indiana and Purdue, taking the name of Tomahawk as the official national title. Since that time, Iowa State has become the fourth member of the group, and several other schools have petitioned for membership.

Pershing Rifles is a national honorary military society honoring members of all the military units on campus. Company C-3 was organized at Illinois in 1931, and since that time has maintained a reputation of having one of the largest and most active units in the country. Members are selected from basic corps cadets in the Army, Navy, and Air Force ROTC units by instructors in the military department on the basis of military scholarship, leadership, and ability. The officers of the organization are elected and appointed from the advance corps members in the organization.

Pershing Rifles has many interesting and varied activities. For the past several years, Pershing Rifles has furnished the color guard for football and basketball games and for various military ceremonies on the campus. It has also maintained a Drum and Bugle corps which is often called upon to lead pep rallies and parades. It has an organized rifle team and an excellent drill team which last year took second place in the Third Regimental drill meet. During this year, a saber drill platoon and a German drill platoon were added. Each year Pershing Rifles selects an honorary sponsor for the unit. One very important annual function held by the organization is an overnight maneuver which is similar to an actual military combat operation.

Scabbard and Blade is a national military honorary and professional fraternity. The members are chosen each semester from the advanced corps of the Army and Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps. Each member is selected on the basis of his all round merit. The society has one hundred and five companies or chapters all over the country. These companies are organized into nine regiments with a total membership of nearly fifty thousand.

Company F at the University of Illinois received its charter in 1909 and was the fifth company organized in Scabbard and Blade.

The primary purpose of this organization is to raise the standard of military education in American colleges and universities and to unite their military departments more closely. Scabbard and Blade encourages the qualities possessed by good officers and promotes friendship among the cadet officers. This friendship is fostered through the various social and service activities sponsored by the organization. Although the organization has its own social functions to further its purposes, Scabbard and Blade gives full cooperation to the other campus activities to aid in the success of their work.

National officers are elected each year at a national convention. Future policies are also discussed and petitions for new companies are voted on.

Armed Forces Rifle Teams

There are three teams firing in national competition representing the University of Illinois Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

During the 1949-50 academic year, the Army ROTC Rifle Team continued its fine record in national competition. The team won the Fifth Army championship in the William Randolph Hearst Matches for the ninth time since 1935. The Fifth Army championship in the Army Intercollegiate Matches was won for the fourth time. In addition, 40 postal matches were fired with other universities and colleges throughout the country, of which the team won 36 and lost four. In shoulder-to-shoulder competition, 34 opponents were met and the Army ROTC team was victorious over 19 of them.

The Air Force ROTC Rifle Team was organized for the first time during the 1949-50 academic year. Eleven postal matches with other Air Force ROTC units were fired, of which the Illinois team won five. A very good nucleus for a 1950-51 team was formed and an extensive firing schedule was planned, including entrance in national competition, the William Randolph Hearst Matches.

The Naval ROTC Rifle Team has been organized since 1945 when the NROTC program was instituted at the University of Illinois. During the academic year 1949-50, the NROTC Rifle Team fired 42 postal matches with other NROTC teams throughout the country. The number of these matches in the win column was 19. The team also entered the William Randolph Hearst Matches and finished sixth nationally. It competed in the Secretary of the Navy Match. In shoulder-to-shoulder competition, the team fired in the Annual University of Illinois Invitational Tournament. Midshipman James Grimes won the championship in the Individual match in this tournament.

The New B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation Building at Illinois

The B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation seeks to provide a religious, cultural, and social center for the Jewish students enrolled at the University. It offers the students Jewish life and fellowship through the observance of the Sabbath and other Holy days; Jewish creativity through the medium of activity groups, such as the choral group, Foundation of newspaper, and dramatic group; and Jewish learning through forums, study groups, and University-approved credit courses. The Foundation maintains a large library of Judaica and a library of recordings, both classical and Jewish. Hillel is organized as the all-embracing community of Jewish students and is administered by the Director, his staff, and student leaders who comprise the Hillel Student Council. It functions as the spokesman for Jewish students in all matters of a religious nature and as the medium through which students are taught to cooperate with other Foundations in the cultivation of a moral and spiritual life. It is the purpose of Hillel to develop leadership for future Jewish life in America and to enable the Jewish community to contribute to the heritage of society. It is toward this that the Hillel Foundation is striving.

The Illini Christian Fellowship group at Illinois consists of Christians of every conceivable denomination. There is, however, a sense of unity through a common eagerness to know Christ better and to make Him known as Savior and Lord. The group considers spiritual and moral problems of the day through group discussion, study of the Bible, prayer, and weekly lectures given by outstanding Christian men from many fields. One of Missionary endeavors of Illini Christian Fellowship is the conduction of Bible studies for foreign students. Understanding is fostered further through the sharing of ideas at regional, national, and international conferences during the summer and on weekends during the school year. Illini Christian Fellowship is one of more than three-hundred chapters of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, an international organization. Although the spiritual and intellectual is emphasized, it recognizes the social needs of its members by sponsoring regular socials and an annual spring formal banquet. Thus the Fellowship makes a contribution to many phases of campus life. The faculty sponsors are the Professors Secord, Morgan, and Morrill.

The Reverend Edward Duncan

The Newman Foundation is the Catholic student center at the University. Its purpose is to deepen the spiritual and enrich the temporal life of its members. The foundation's program is under the direction of the Rev. Edward Duncan, assisted by the Rev. Edward O'Rourke and the Rev. Edgar Taylor. First among the foundation's activities is the work of St. John's Catholic Chapel, which offers its students three masses daily. Also, the foundation offers courses in dogmatic, moral, and ascetic theology; liturgy and scripture; church history; and philosophy.

The Newman Club, official organization of Catholic students on campus, sponsors a series of lectures on topics of vital interest for Catholics through its Te Deum and Aquinas forums and its Christopher conferences. The Newman Club is affiliated with the National Federation of Newman Clubs and is a branch of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. A well-balanced social program consisting of intramural sports, dramatics, corporate communions, discussion groups, and coffee hours is offered to its members. Traditional events include an annual formal and a picnic to Turkey Run State Park each spring.

In Memory of Glenn C. Law

The sudden death of head wrestling coach Glenn C. Law on May 1, 1950, came as a surprise to both the students and faculty of the University of Illinois. Glenn Law, better known as Newt, had been a member of the Illinois coaching staff for 21 years. He served as assistant wrestling coach until 1944 when he became head wrestling coach succeeding H. E. Kenny. In 1943 he was appointed assistant football coach and one year later assumed the duties of Athletic Association personnel director.

Newt was permanently appointed head wrestling coach in 1948 when Kenny became assistant to the director of the School of Physical Education. During Newt's six years as head wrestling coach his teams won 26 dual meets, lost 14, and tied two. Newt's 1946 team established him as one of the best wrestling coaches in the country, when they won the Big Ten wrestling championship and finished third in the NCAA meet.

In 1950 Newt realized two of his greatest accomplishments. He was elected secretary-treasurer of the National Rules Committee, and in the spring Newt held his first state high school wrestling coaches' clinic.

Newt was very interested in youth activities and served as faculty advisor to both Alpha Phi Omega, honorary Boy Scout fraternity, and to the Tribe of Illini, Illinois letterman's organization.

Newt was well liked and highly respected by all the men he coached and by those he met in competition. Illinois lost a fine man and an excellent coach at the untimely death of Newt Law.

Conference Medal Winner and Athlete of the Year

Russ Steger

Russ Steger, who has long been noted as one of the most colorful athletes in the history of the University of Illinois, finished his career as an outstanding Illini by winning the Athlete of the Year award and the Conference Honor Medal. He was awarded the Conference Honor Medal on the basis of his proficiency in athletics and scholarship.

Steger won the 1950 Athlete of the Year Contest to become the ninth winner of the Lion Gardiner Award which is presented on the basis of student vote.

Russ received eight varsity letters, four in football and four in baseball. In 1947, when he was only a sophomore, he was named to the all-American football team for his outstanding play as a fullback on the Illinois squad. Russ played both outfield and first base for the Illini baseball team. The members of the 1949 baseball squad voted him the Most Valuable Player of the season.

Tony Klimek

Most Valuable Player

Tony Klimek received the greatest honor his teammates could bestow when they voted him Most Valuable Player of the 1950 football season. Tony's election to the presidency of the Tribe of Illini, Illinois lettermen's organization, is a good example of the high esteem held for him by his fellow athletes. Klimek earned his "most valuable" title as one of the two Illinois players to play almost every minute of this season's games. Tony was a rugged offensive player and gained a reputation in Big Ten circles for his outstanding defensive play.

The Illini end was chosen as a first team end on the Associated Press all-Big Ten eleven. Tony also received honorable mention in the Associated Press all-American listings. As a finale to his college football career Tony was selected to play in the Blue-Gray game.

Cheerleaders

The new spark added to the cheering section of the Illini this year was the return of girl cheerleaders to the cheerleading squad. The demand for girl cheerleaders, absent from the cheering squad since before the war, rose until the idea met fulfillment.

Somersaults, cartwheels, and other tumbling stunts were all a part of the yells led by the spirit raisers. New yells, including a tom-tom yell, were received with enthusiasm by fans.

Jim Downs, in his third season as Chief Illiniwek, continued to boost the interest of ardent football fans by his traditional Indian war dance, his leadership of "Hail to the Orange," and his peace pipe ceremony sometimes shared with cheerleaders of opposing teams.

In addition to leading cheers at football and basketball games, the Illini cheerleaders took part in numerous pep rallies and athletic activities.

The combination of Block I, the great football band, a strong Illini football team, and the enthusiastic cheerleaders resulted in a colorful and successful football season for Illinois.

Ohio University

Outclassing Ohio university all the way, the Fighting Illini racked up their most decisive victory of the season in their 28 to two 1950 opener. After the opening kick-off, Illinois had the ball only three minutes before Sam Piazza shook loose on a 40-yard touchdown sprint. Sam Rebecca added the extra point. With four minutes to go in the second quarter, Wayne Siegert laid the key block that enabled Dick Raklovits to sprint 25 yards to the goal.

Early in the third quarter, Johnny Karras passed to Joe Vernasco in the end zone for the third Illinois touchdown. Five minutes later Al Brosky intercepted a Bobcat aerial. Two plays later Karras skirted around end for the score. Rebecca's kick made it 28 to 0, completing Illinois' scoring. Ohio scored its two points on a safety by breaking through and catching Don Henss behind the goal line on an attempted pass.

Rain and the Wisconsin Badgers combined to darken a damp day at Memorial Stadium as Wisconsin wrung out a 7 to 6 victory over the Illini.

Illinois received the kick-off and marched 87 yards up the rain-soaked field for their only touchdown. Rebecca tried for the conversion, but the pass from center went into the mud. He attempted to run it over, but was dropped on the Wisconsin four-yard-line. In the second quarter, the Illini were moving steadily downfield when Major faded to pass. The ball was partially deflected by a Wisconsin lineman, and it dropped into the arms of Badger Bob Radcliffe, who trotted 31 yards down the sideline for the score. Cotta kicked the water-logged ball through the uprights for the extra point, giving Wisconsin the game winning 7 to 6 lead. Statistics showed the Illini offense gained 242 yards in contrast to 92 yards gained by the Badger offensive unit.

UCLA

The Illini played in 100 degree temperature under the lights of the Los Angeles Colosseum to defeat their 1947 Rose Bowl opponent 14 to 6. Illinois struck quickly in the opening period when the second of two long Major-to-Klimek aerials capped a 72-yard touchdown drive. The second quarter featured good defensive play by both teams. Don Laz's punting repeatedly placed the Golden Bears deep into their own territory.

Early in the third period, Dick Raklovits exploded through the center of the line on a 76-yard sprint over the Bruin goal. Rebecca converted for the second time, giving the Illini a 14 to 0 lead. The Illini concentrated on defense for the remainder of the game; kicking many times on the first down, and keeping passes to a minimum. These tactics stifled the Bruin offense until UCLA scored late in the fourth quarter on Florence's touchdown pass, making the final score 14 to 6.

Sparked by Johnny Karras's 183 yards from scrimmage, Illinois won an exciting 20 to 13 decision from the previously unbeaten Washington Huskies in a hard-fought offensive battle.

The Huskies opened the scoring in the second period with a 25-yard pass from Heinrich to Early. Illinois rallied immediately with Karras's 39-yard dash off tackle, sparking a 71-yard touchdown drive which made the score 7 to 6. Minutes later Hugh McElhenny leaped up between two Illini defenders to make a spectacular end-zone catch of Don Heinrich's 25-yard pass, and the Huskies lead 13 to 6. Illinois countered with Major's screen pass to Raklovits which moved the ball to the Washington two. Karras smashed over for the score. Joe Hall's interception of a Husky pass set up the final Illini touchdown. Dick Raklovits scored from the three-yard line.

Indiana

Illinois, sparked by Johnny Karras' running and Fred Major's passing, defeated a highly-rated Indiana team 20 to 0 before a Homecoming crowd of 65,000. The perfect fall weather allowed the Illini to play their best brand of football, mixing quick opening plays with strategic passes. Time after time the Illini defense stopped a potent Hoosier passing attack deep in Illinois territory.

Both teams made long marches early in the first quarter, but neither could muster a scoring punch. The first break for the Illini came when Al Tate recovered a Hoosier fumble on their 22. Then the ground attack began to roll. Several quick dashes by Karras and Raklovits put the ball on the Indiana three, and then Clark cut off tackle for the touchdown. Neither team was able to score in a hard-fought second quarter and the half-time score was 7 to 0.

Illinois kicked off to start the third quarter and the Hoosiers, sparked by Lou D'Achille's passing, rolled to the Illini 33 before the Orange and Blue forward wall stiffened. Seconds later Johnny Karras exploded through right tackle for 67 yards and a touchdown. Five minutes later the Illini, paced by Steven's running and Major's passing, marched 77 yards downfield. Raklovits tallied from the six-yard-line. Rebecca's kick was good, making the final score 20 to 0.

Michigan

The Fighting Illini traveled to Ann Arbor and played a very cool, defensive ball game on a very cool day in a blinding snowstorm. Illinois gained a 7 point edge in the first half, and through stalwart defensive play, turned it into the margin of victory.

In the first quarter, both teams tried to start ground attacks that just wouldn't start—then they punted and played for a break, but the break never came. In the second period, Rocky Raklovits started the winning drive with a 32 yard dash to the Michigan 48. Three plays later Don Stevens, filling the shoes of the injured Johnny Karras, drove 21 yards to the Michigan 6. On third down, Fred Major lobbed a very slippery ball to Tony Klimek in the end zone for the winning touchdown. Rebecca's placekick split the uprights, making it 7-0.

In the second half, Illinois did not try to score, took no chances, and played only to keep Michigan from tallying. Coach Ray Eliot directed a very cautious, scientific type of game, frequently having Don Laz punt on first down to keep the Wolverines deep in their own territory. The staunch Illini defense, sparked by tackle Al Tate, linebacker Joe Cole, and halfback Herb Neathery, held well on the frozen gridiron and prevented the Wolverines from threatening throughout the final half.

The Orange and Blue offense scored three quick touchdowns in the first eight minutes of the opening period at Iowa City. With just two minutes of the first quarter gone, Al Brosky ran a Hawkeye punt back 61 yards for the first score. Immediately after the next kickoff Lynn Lynch recovered an Iowa fumble on the Hawkeye 24, and two plays later Major fired a screen pass to Dick Raklovits in the end zone. Only five minutes more had elapsed when the Illini again took over possession of the ball and Raklovits sprinted up the middle on a quick opening play for 61 yards and the third touchdown. Sam Rebecca kicked his third successful conversion, making the halftime score 21 to 0.

In the third period, the Iowans climaxed a 73-yard march with a 14-yard touchdown pass to make the final score 21 to 7. In the fourth quarter a forward-lateral penalty canceled a 61-yard touchdown run by Don Stevens.

The Fighting Illini whipped the Buckeyes in the game that was billed as the "battle for the Big Ten Championship." Illinois' defense, then rated as third best in the country, held Ohio State's powerful offensive team to one touchdown, while Fred Major passed to Don Stevens for two, giving Illinois a 14 to 7 victory.

The first quarter was a rugged see-saw battle with both squads fighting hard, but gaining little ground. The fireworks began in the second quarter when Major flipped a 20-yard pass to Stevens who caught it on a dead run and raced the remaining 32 yards to the goal line. Five minutes later the Illini, sparked by the timely running of Karras and Stevens, marched 42 yards to the Buckeye five, where Major fired a pass to Stevens in the end zone for the winning touchdown. Ohio's all-American, Vic Janowicz, proved his ability as his running carried the Buckeyes on an 83-yard touchdown drive for the only Ohio State touchdown.

Northwestern

An inspired Northwestern team crushed Illinois Rose Bowl hopes by scoring two second-half touchdowns to defeat the Illini 14-7. On the first play from scrimmage Al Brosky intercepted a Wildcat pass on the Northwestern 43. Illinois marched to the 14 and then Karras swept right end to make it 7-0 at the end of the first three minutes.

The Illini then played cautious defensive ball, punting frequently, but in the third period the Wildcats drove to the Illinois 20 where Athans sped off guard for the tying touchdown. The Illini, who refused to pass, couldn't muster a sustained drive. In the fourth period the Wildcats started a 54-yard drive which ended when Miller went off tackle for the winning touchdown. The 14-7 final score left Illini fans with no reward for their three hour vigil in the near-zero temperatures.

Although the Illini neither won the Big Ten Championship, nor played in the Rose Bowl, they had a better than average season. Their hopes of annexing the Champion's crown and of taking the California trip were not smashed until the last half of the Northwestern game — the last game of the season.

In conference tilts, the Illini won four and lost two, but they also captured two non-conference games. Illinois outscored their opponents 137-56, and until the Northwestern game were rated the third best defensive team in the country.

Center Bill Vohaska was named all-American by the Associated Press. He was also voted best center in a players poll. Other Illini honored in the poll were: Chuck Brown — best offensive guard, and Johnny Karras — best running halfback. Al Tate made Look magazine's all-American second team, and Lynch and Karras were rated all-Midwest by Colliers.

In most pre-season estimates, Illinois was not ranked as a strong contender for the Big Ten Cage Championship. The team was considered too young and too inexperienced to be able to beat out such strong contenders as Iowa and Indiana. However, early in the season, after impressive victories over Marquette and Oregon State; it became apparent that the Fighting Illini were going to go places in the Big Ten.

The next two games tested the Illini much more than the previous two, and the Illini emerged with a loss to Toledo, a one point victory over DePaul, and much confidence and experience gained.

During the Christmas vacation the Illini continued to hold regular practice and played four non-conference games here in Champaign. They won three of the games by rather decisive scores and lost a return game with DePaul by only three points. The Illini were then ready to embark upon their regular conference season and the race for the Big Ten Championship.

The Illini opened conference play by beating three of the main contenders for the crown — Wisconsin in an overtime, Minnesota by eight points, and Iowa by two points. This unpredicted feat set the Illini up as the team to beat in the Big Ten. The Illini continued their quest for the title with a victory over a none-too-powerful Michigan. However, the Hoosiers managed to take the Illini for their only conference loss by a rather decisive 11 point margin.

The Illini came back strong and took their next five opponents with relative ease. At this point in the season the Cagers were virtually tied with Indiana for first place, Indiana having picked up one loss at the hands of Minnesota. If the Illini could defeat Indiana, they would practically have the championship in their possession, save an upset, which is only too possible in the Big Ten.

Jim Bredar and Ren Alde

When Indiana came to Champaign, the Illini were waiting for them. Illinois capitalized on Indiana's weaknesses, played a rough game under the boards, and kept their wits about them at all times. After an exciting 40 minutes, the game ended with Illinois having a six point edge. Now the Fighting Illini had undisputed possession of first place and only three games left.

Illinois won the first of these three games from Ohio State at Columbus with very little difficulty. However, Northwestern, who likes to spoil Illini title hopes, put up a real battle against the Cagers in the Chicago Stadium, but fell short of a victory by four points.

Michigan State, the last obstacle for the Illini, gave Illinois fans a real scare as they led all the way before yielding to a last minute scoring splurge which gave the Illini their final margin of victory. However, Michigan State did hold the Illini to 49 points, their lowest score all season.

Cross Country—The story of the 1950 cross country team at Illinois was largely the story of one man —George Lynch.

Lynch was the only man to win a cross-country letter, he was the only Illini to place in the Big Ten meet, and he was the only bright spot in the most gloomy harrier season in many years.

Indiana swamped the Illini in the first dual meet of the season, but Lynch, improving steadily from the beginning of practice, came in fourth. The Illini next faced Michigan and lost again, but Lynch came in third. In a triangular meet Illinois beat Purdue and lost to Wisconsin. Lynch finished second for his best showing of the year.

In the Big Ten meet, Lynch finished sixth, the best showing made by any sophomore in the meet.

Captain Lawton Lamb did not do nearly as well as he did as a sophomore in '49 and Ocie Trimble, another letterman, was hampered most of the season with an ankle injury. The remainder of the team: Stacey Siders, Milt Brown, and Henry Cryer, were middle distance men and had difficulty in the long races.

Indoor Track

The intra-squad track meet was the first unofficial look at the indoor track team. The results of the meet were nothing out of the ordinary with the varsity beating the freshmen $68\frac{2}{3}$ to $45\frac{1}{3}$. However, three new records were set that afternoon, including Don Laz's 15-foot pole vault.

In the first dual meet of the season, the underdog Illini surprised a much-publicized Ohio State team by beating them $73\frac{1}{3}$ to $40\frac{2}{3}$. The high point of the meet was when Walt Jewsbury set a new Illini record with a 4:13.9 mile.

Illinois beat a strong Michigan team at Ann Arbor by a slim margin of 62 to 52. The meet wasn't won until the final minutes when the Illini mile relay team emerged with a victory, and Lou Irons added the clincher by winning the broad jump.

Traveling next to Minneapolis, the Illini defeated a none-too-powerful Minnesota team by the score of $68\frac{1}{2}$ to $45\frac{1}{2}$. At this point in the season, injuries and sickness were plaguing Coach Leo Johnson's track men. Johnson felt that the prospects for the future were very poor, and the most he hoped for was sixth place.

However, in spite of injuries, the Illini had little trouble in outscoring Iowa, Purdue, and Northwestern in the armory. Irons and Jewsbury were both taken off the sick list for these meets, although they weren't up to their usual form, while Jerry Slack was still sidelined. The outstanding performance of the afternoon was turned in by Laz who pole vaulted 14 feet $5\frac{3}{8}$ inches, to set a new armory record.

In the Conference meet held here at Illinois, the Illini placed third, only $4\frac{1}{2}$ points behind first place Ohio State and $1\frac{1}{4}$ points behind second place Michigan.

Outdoor Track

The outdoor track season looked none too bright for the Illini when it started. Don Laz was in a slump and hadn't cleared 14 feet in some time; and Lou Irons and Roger Swank, anchor men on the mile relay team, were still suffering from injuries incurred during the indoor season.

As a result the Illini were soundly trounced by Indiana in their first dual meet of the outdoor season. The only bright spots of the meet were Don Laz's return to form with a 14-foot 1-inch pole vault and the excellent performance in the 880 by Jim Studzinski, who had come from obscurity at the beginning of the season to be Illinois' top middle distance man.

The Illini started to show improvement, however, when they beat Michigan and Northwestern in a triangular meet in Illinois' Memorial Stadium. Dick Upton breezed through the quarter mile in 49.8 seconds, the best time of his career. Also, Captain Lou Irons assured himself of a trip to the Coliseum Relays in California with his 6 foot 4½-inch high jump.

Illinois next proceeded to upset highly rated Ohio State in a dual meet at Columbus. Don Laz vaulted 14 feet 3¾ inches to break the Ohio State stadium pole vault record and turn in his best performance of the season. The Illini mile relay team gave their most impressive performance of the meet when they won their event in 3:20.0. Illinois also dominated both the high and low hurdles by collecting 16 out of a possible 18 points in these events.

In the Big Ten championships held at Northwestern, the fighting Illini were the surprise of the meet when they finished up in second place. Vic Twomey ran the two-mile distance in the best time of his career, 9 minutes and 19 seconds.

Baseball

After starting the 1950 baseball race with high hopes for a top season, the Illini wound up with a six-win five-loss Big Ten conference record, netting themselves fourth place honors. Of the nineteen games played during the season, the squad won 13 and lost 6, faltering somewhat during mid-season due to pitching difficulties.

Strong hitting was one of the stellar factors in favor of the Illini, for they pounded out 191 runs netting themselves a ten-per-game average. The team's batting average for the season was a strong .300, including 19 home runs, which is the greatest number per season in Illini baseball history.

Twelve lettermen, including captain Herb Plews and first baseman Ruck Steger, were back this season to bolster the team. Plews, playing his last season for the Illini, sparked the team with his outstanding fielding ability and wielded a strong bat at the plate to average .397 with 30 hits. This average was second only to Ruck Steger's scorching .447 conference average and .407 all season average. Steger, in undoubtedly his best season, won the team's award for the most valuable player, receiving the honor in virtue of his outstanding coverage of first base and his terrific batting average.

Another returning veteran, Rocky Raklovits, did his share of the work at the plate by pounding out 7 homers, 31 runs and leading the squad in the total number of hits.

Veterans Alby Plain and Juny Tangman led the squad on the mound, with Ed Zinker and Herb Agase back of them in relief positions. Plain had his best season to date, winning 5 games and losing 2. Tangman, although hampered by control problems in the initial part of the season, managed to settle down and finish the season in top form. Herb Agase, with a three-win record, was the only Illini hurler with an unmarred slate.

Starting off their season with an impressive four-game victory over the U.S. Naval Station at Memphis, Tennessee, the Illini rolled into what they hoped would be a championship season. Maintaining their winning streak, the tribe next came from behind in a fifth inning rally to beat Valparaiso by a score of 10 to 6.

Spirited by a good beginning, the Illini launched into Big Ten conference play, but dropped their first game to Iowa 6 to 3. However, avenging their setback, the tribe, paced by veteran Alby Plain, roared back to trounce Iowa in an 11 to 0 shutout with Lou Krantz and Steger knocking one apiece over the fence.

The next series saw Illinois split a twin bill with Northwestern. After a 4 to 0 shut out in the first game, the Illini were handed their second setback in conference play by the Wildcats. Steger slammed out a tremendous 450-foot homer with the bases loaded to account for four of the tribe's tallies; however, the score ended in an 8 to 5 loss for the Illini.

Nice save, Ruck

Illinois traveled to Minnesota for their next conference series, but due to freak weather conditions only one game was played. The Illini won this game 11 to 2, with John Neal taking the batting honors by slamming a home run and a triple. The following week found Illinois facing the league-leading Michigan Wolverines who were undefeated at the time. The Wolverines took the first game by a close 6 to 5 margin but the next day the Illini hit their stride behind Plain and swamped Michigan 9 to 2. Rocky Raklovits homered in the eighth with three on to help cinch the game and hand the Wolves their first defeat of the season.

After losing to an underdog Arkansas team 12 to 9, the Illini resumed their conference series at Ohio State, in a non-conference tilt. The Bucks managed to squelch the Illini in both games of the two-game series by the close scores of 4 to 3 in the first and 12 to 11 in the second. The first game was a pitchers' duel and the second a slugfest with both teams collecting 14 hits.

Conference play ended in a series at Indiana with the Illini taking both games. With a scant seven hits, including a home run by Hank Anderssohn, they overcame the Hoosiers 6 to 3 in the first game. The second game saw Tangman in his last conference game, and he proved himself by leading the Illini to a 10 to 9 victory. The tribe accounted for 10 hits that game, one a homer by Ruck Steger.

The Illini wound up the season with a double win over the Irish of Notre Dame. In the first game the squad emerged with a 21 to 0 shutout on 18 hits, handing the Irish the worst beating they've ever received. The next day the Illini made it two with a 4 to 1 win over Notre Dame.

With four returning lettermen, Coach Howie Braun's 1950 tennis squad managed to capture second place in the Big 10 Conference. During the season the squad won 8 and lost 1. Illinois started out the season with wins over Iowa, Vanderbilt, Ohio State, and Michigan State. The squad fell to Michigan, the third place team in the Big Ten, but rose to win their last four matches from Northwestern, the conference leader, Wisconsin, Purdue, and Indiana.

Big Ten honors went to the doubles team composed of lettermen James Moses and Wilson Besant, who took the number 3 doubles division, and to sophomore Robert Bennorth who won the number 6 singles division.

Coach Ed Manley's 1950 swimming team opened a successful season with a victory over Bowling Green and a loss to Indiana. In the following two meets Illinois trounced the University of Cincinnati and edged out a strong Northwestern team. The Illini won two of the remaining three dual meets, whipping De Paul and the University of Louisville, and losing to a determined Boilermaker squad.

Top performances by Captain Bob Branch, Homer Ash, high point man for the Illini during 1950, and Don Clooney were the essential reasons for Illinois' successful season. The Illini terminated the dual meet competition with a record of five wins and three losses.

Illinois' long-suffering golf team received a hope of better things to come when the new 18-hole championship course was opened this season. Playing on the new course, Illini linksters posted a better-than-average seven win, four loss record in dual meet competition. However, in the Big Ten met, which determines the final standings, the Illini finished sixth. First man, Dave Logan, paced the bag-toters in this meet with a four-round total of 295. Other Illini finishers were Gene Peterson, George Dayiantis, Ray Kimpel, Pete Fletcher, and Rod Fletcher. Dayiantis was the only Illini to go as far as the second round in the NCAA meet, and he was defeated in that round.

The Illinois varsity fencing squad, led by Coach Max Garret and Captain Robert Forsythe, finished a very successful 1950 season with a record of six wins, three losses and one tie. The Illini won the Big Ten Championship held at Ohio State, bettering last year's performance when they placed second. Coach Garret's squad ended competition with a trip to Detroit where they placed third in the N.C.A.A. Championships.

Forsythe, named "most valuable" player for the 1950 season, was the best individual performer for the Illini during the regular season and also at the N.C.A.A. championships where he captured tenth place in the epee.

Coach Newt Law built his 1950 wrestling team around four returning lettermen. During the regular season the team showed considerable strength in all their dual meets. They started with wins over Wisconsin, Michigan, and Michigan State. Their first loss was to Iowa State Teachers College, NCAA champions. The Illini then defeated Iowa, lost to Ohio State, and finished the season with wins over Minnesota, Northwestern, Indiana, and Purdue.

The Illini did not do so well in the Big Ten Championship Meet because of injuries and ineligibilities that prevented the whole squad from taking part in the meet.

For the second year in a row Coach Charles Pond produced a championship gymnastics team. The squad, composed of four lettermen and several outstanding newcomers, took both the Big Ten title and the NCAA title. The Illini started their season by defeating Ohio State. However, in their second meet they ran into a surprising upset at the hands of Kent State. Illinois came back to win over Wisconsin, Michigan State, Indiana, Chicago, and Minnesota.

The Illini far outscored their opponents when they took the Big Ten championship and the NCAA crown. Outstanding on the squad was Frank Dolan. Other outstanding men on the team were Irvin Bedard, Joe Fina, and Robert Sullivan. Several Illini scored in the National AAU meet with Irv Bedard winning his third tumbling championship. Bob Sullivan placed second and Joe Fina placed fourth in the meet.

Intramural Sports

Illinois can boast of one of the finest intra-college athletic programs in the nation. Sponsored by the Athletic Association, this program includes almost every imaginable sport, organized under separate, cooperating intramural, recreational, and co-recreational managerial departments.

These latter two departments led the way in IMREC expansion during the 1949-50 year by nearly doubling individual and team entries. An all-time high in total participation was also set with 15,000 entries being taken for 1,670 teams, which included men and women in all three departments.

The extensive athletic equipment and broad facilities of the University of Illinois are all made available to the students and faculty seven days a week through the IMREC office. This includes eight gymnasiums, four swimming pools, two golf courses, an indoor and an outdoor track, a bowling alley, numerous handball and tennis courts, and softball and football fields.

The IMREC division is led by faculty supervisor Allen B. Klingel, an assistant supervisor, an office staff of three, and a student staff of 16 managers headed this year by senior managers Sonny Bradley and Chuck Marshall. The IMREC Board, composed of the supervisor and assistant; the senior and junior managers; the chairman of the Officials; and representatives of MIA, IF, Indee House Managers' Council, and Greek House Managers' Council, sets all policies of the program.

A similar representative group, the Protest Board, handles all disputes of IM contests in a judicial manner. Physical Education students are given valuable experience as paid game officials through the IMREC Officials' Association.

Entry fees are charged for IM sports, but these fees are used almost entirely for the many trophies awarded to league, independent, fraternity, and all-university champs. The large remainder of operating expenses of the IMREC program are made up by the Athletic Association in keeping with their policy of "sports for all."

The annual race for the highly-coveted giant achievement trophy, awarded to the house with the greatest number of IM points at the end of the year, has become a matter of extensive activity for the numerous competitors. The race is perennially close, with the winner usually dependent upon a victory in IM outdoor track, the last event of the year.

The Fourth Annual MING Festival, was held in Huff Gym in April of 1950, with IM champions from Navy Pier and Chicago Medical School meeting the Greek and Indee winners from Urbana. The Greeks came out on top by a slim margin gained in a total of 13 events.

The Tribe of Illini is a social organization founded to better acquaint the lettermen of the varsity sports. It operates to further good relations between the "I" men and the rest of the student body. The Tribe strives in every way possible to place athletics at Illinois on the highest level. Membership is limited to those men who have earned a major letter in athletics at the University. New members are elected and initiated after awards are presented in each sport.

During the football season the Tribe sponsors the showing of the movies of the out-of-town games. Members of the football team alternate as narrators at the movies. The Tribe also presents a winter formal and a spring formal dance each year.

Orchesis

"Orchesis" is a Greek word meaning "to dance." The purpose of the organization is to offer to men and women of the University the opportunity for creative dance study, composition, and performance, and to stimulate appreciation and understanding of the art in the community.

The yearly concert is the major activity and is given in conjunction with the Contemporary Arts Festival in March. A portion of the proceeds from the concert is allotted annually for a scholarship to be awarded to a member of the group for summer study at a school of dance. Other activities include sponsoring concerts by famous dance artists, organizing symposia in which neighboring colleges are invited to participate, and lecture demonstrations for the music and art departments and for clubs on campus. The group is also invited to present concerts throughout the state. Orchesis participates in productions which combine the efforts of music, drama, and dance departments.

Terrapin, established on this campus in 1923, is an honorary swimming club for University women. Pledges to the club are selected on the basis of individual swimming skill, rhythm, and potential water ballet skill.

Members of the club, pledges and actives alike, work during the regular meeting practice periods for improvement in swimming, diving, and stunts. These skills are basic to the annual water show given in the spring during the campus celebration of Mother's Day. The show, consisting of integrated water musical routines, is written and produced by club and associate members.

Terrapin Club sponsors the annual Women's Interhouse Swimming Meet and trips to other campus swimming meets. Members participate in the annual Dolphin Club show and the Annual Women's Aquatic Forum held in Hollywood, Florida. The club supports all swimming events on the campus and acts as a parent to Guppies.

Guppies, supervised by an officer of the Terrapin Club, is designed to help the student who is interested in improvement of skills for the sake of improvement alone, or for the assistance it gives in preparation for Terrapin Club tryouts.

Terrapin Club is sponsored by the Department of Physical Education for women and is an affiliate of the Women's Athletic Association.

Dolphins

Dolphins, a national swimming fraternity, was organized in 1912, by E. J. Manley, present coach of the University of Illinois swimming team, for the purpose of promoting aquatic activities. Its members are chosen from men who display outstanding skill in all phases of water sports and who demonstrate devotion to the purpose of the fraternity. In the years after the first World War, the Dolphins became a national organization.

Since the fraternity's founding, the Dolphin Watershow has been an annual event. As a highlight of the show, a Dolphin queen is selected from a number of candidates. With the proceeds of the annual aquacade, the fraternity is able to promote interest in aquatic activities on the campus and throughout the state.

As only sophomores, juniors, and seniors have been able to participate in the larger swimming meets of other colleges, Dolphins hopes next year to try to send their freshman members.

This year Dolphins sent 15 students and six faculty members as representatives to the 14th annual National Aquatic Forum held in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Six members represented Illinois in the East-West swimming meet in which the West won.

In addition to promoting such activities as water polo, the Dolphin members aid in the officiating at swimming events and meets on the campus.

Parade Ground Units 1261 Euclid

The idea of using the Parade Grounds as a housing unit was under discussion until the Spring of 1946. At that time action was taken to complete it as a housing project for single men. Working on an appropriation from the Federal Housing Association, the University procured the buildings from Camp Phillips at Salina, Kansas. Construction difficulties delayed the opening of the Units until the Fall of 1947.

At the present time, the Parade Ground Units has 1264 residents. The Unit is composed of seventy-nine buildings, housing sixteen men each. This area is the largest single housing development on any campus in the United States. As an organized student house, it has no numerical equal.

CHICAGO PROFESSIONAL COLLEGES

Dental-Medical-Pharmacy Building

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, vice president, University of Illinois

The 1950-51 academic year was one of notable achievement at the University of Illinois Chicago Professional Colleges.

Enrollment at the Chicago Professional Colleges reached an unprecedented high of 1,573 undergraduate and graduate students, surpassing the previous peak of 1,559 recorded in 1931. Research activities were expanded, thanks to the receipt of almost a million dollars from private, public, and governmental firms and agencies. Public service contributions were unexcelled from the standpoint of the handling of more than 191,000 outpatient visits in the Illinois Research and Educational Hospitals — the highest total of any institution in the state.

Several academic developments are worthy of note. In medicine, the Departments of Public Health and Preventive Medicine were established. In dentistry, a teaching curricula in radiology was provided and the use of television as a media in post-graduate instruction was successfully employed. In pharmacy, a complete revision of the curriculum was made, involving modernization of courses in the health sciences and the addition of courses in the social sciences and in business administration. In the Graduate College, the curriculum was expanded to include work in 20 fields of instruction.

College of Dentistry

College of Dentistry

Secondary to its mission of instructing students in the arts and sciences of the profession, the College of Dentistry has the responsibility of correlating the rapidly advancing biological and technological aspects of this field, including them in the curriculum and making the findings available to the practicing dentists. Continued devotion to this end has won the College of Dentistry the position of a reliable beacon to which practitioners from all over the world look with respect and confidence.

The mental and physical facilities of the college attract research problems and personnel from private practice, private and public institutions, and national and federal organizations. Manufacturers of technological instruments submit products for investigation and recommendations.

Proximity to the facilities of the related biological fields permits closest co-ordination of allied sciences with the potentialities of the dental sciences in the accomplishment of its end of attainment and maintenance of health emphasizing the student-practitioner and other members of the health team.

With commencement this spring, the College of Dentistry graduates its first class under the new curriculum. This program was initiated four years ago, and allows students to see patients and gain clinical experience during the freshman year. It has proved to be very successful in enabling students to correlate the theory of the basic sciences and the dental sciences with actual clinical practice. Formerly, the student received all the theory in his first two years, and the infirmary work was crowded into the last two years. The University of Illinois College of Dentistry was one of the first schools to institute this new plan. This is probably the only school in the country which has a basic technics course for freshmen students. This beginning course enables the student to develop his digital dexterity and to learn instrumentation and procedures before actually going ahead with dental work.

The clinics of the university are of the utmost in modernity. They serve a two-fold purpose: patients are accepted primarily for teaching purposes, and at the same time the policy of the school is to give high quality dental work. This provides a definite service to the patient at a minimum cost and also furthers the community health programs. Patients are referred to the clinics from all over the state. In the admitting clinic, of 8200 patients interviewed during the past year, 4500 were accepted for treatment by 260 students in the College of Dentistry.

The clinics are also renowned for their research projects and post-graduate work. All parts of the world have been represented by post-graduate students in previous refresher courses. One example of the University's attempt to keep the dental practitioners abreast of the latest advances in dentistry is through the telephone extension project. In this revolutionary teaching technic, discussions originate at the University and are transmitted over 25,000 miles of long distance telephone lines to more than 10,000 dentists in 255 cities including 13 cities in seven provinces of Canada.

Dean Stanley W. Olson

The University of Illinois College of Medicine is one of the leaders in furthering the process of modern medicine. The College of Medicine is an integral part of the rapidly-expanding medical center district on Chicago's near-west side. Its work in medical research and its clinic aid thousands of patients yearly.

Dr. Stanley W. Olson is the new Dean of the College of Medicine, replacing Dr. John B. Youmans. Dr. Olson is one of the youngest men ever to hold such a responsible position in the medical field.

During the 1950-51 school year work continued on the new Research and Educational Hospitals near the present college buildings. These new hospitals are designed to assist the college in providing better medical care for its patients and better medical education for its students and to further its program of medical research.

Medical Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council of the University of Illinois College of Medicine is composed of representatives of the fraternities which maintain houses in the Medical Center District. The total membership of these organizations includes more than two-thirds of the total enrollment of the College of Medicine.

Because of the critical housing situation in this area, the Council was first organized informally to assist incoming freshmen to find housing accommodations during the rushing activities. The nature of the academic program made it necessary to concentrate the rushing activities into a relatively short period, and, as a result, a coordinated week of activities was planned. Since then the Council has been the governing body of all rushing activities.

Gradually the activities of the Interfraternity Council have been expanded to include social, athletic, academic, and civic enterprises and have been most instrumental in establishing a healthful spirit of cooperation among the fraternities.

The administration of the University has cooperated with this group and encouraged the formation of a self-governing body for the fraternities. In the past year, it has been organized under a constitution and now is recognized as a guiding organization in campus activities.

The Interfraternity Council serves to formulate policies in matters pertaining to all of the member groups and to act in conjunction with the University administration in carrying out policies pertaining to the fraternities.

Phi Beta Pi Medical fraternity was founded at the University of Pennsylvania (now the University of Pittsburgh) on March 10, 1891, which makes it one of the oldest medical fraternities.

Iota chapter of Phi Beta Pi was established at the University of Illinois College of Medicine in March, 1902.

From the original organization started by its 13 founders, Phi Beta Pi has grown into a national organization composed of 39 active chapters which have initiated over 21,000 men at Class A medical schools. Of this roster, over 16,000 members are living and are classified as undergraduate or alumni members.

The fraternity maintains a central office and distributes its own medical publication to the undergraduate and alumni members.

The pharmacist, who has direct contact with the people of this vast country, must be one of the first to modernize his thoughts and practices. He is a member of the health professions, and he must be able to cope with all problems, whether new or old, important or insignificant.

The first step in the modernization program is education. The educational standards must set the pace for the pharmacist and members of the professions. The curriculum of the College of Pharmacy is constantly being changed to keep up with the modern trend. An example of this is the new course in hospital pharmacy, which offers the student practice in manufacturing new drugs, compounding actual prescriptions, and dispensing them to the patient.

Parallel to this advancement in education is a similar advancement in practice. This all-around modernization is increasing the importance of the pharmacist as a link between the physician and the patient.

Dr. Milan V. Novak, associate dean of the Graduate College of the Chicago Professional Colleges

Research, the patient, endless pursuit of new knowledge, stimulated by disciplined imagination, is the life line that engenders vitality into the teaching and service programs of a great university. Unless provision is made for the continual addition of new knowledge by the scholarly achievements of faculty and advanced students, teaching may become routine and uninspired, and services to the citizens of the state may become mediocre. Productive research is the life of the Graduate College in the medical sciences of dentistry, medicine, and pharmacy.

One of the functions of the Graduate College administration is to provide research funds for the faculty in order that they may contribute to the storehouses of knowledge. Another is to attract promising young investigators into the medical science research by approving and awarding fellowships. Working in the laboratories with their major advisors, students carry on studies toward Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degrees and disseminate to the ends of the earth the inventive skills acquired in the laboratories. New centers for the advancement of medical knowledge are in turn established. Thus, the University, through its Graduate College on this campus, contributes widely to the advancement of civilization and to the general well-being of man.

Illi-Sota

Illi-Sota, the Illini Student Occupational Therapy society, was organized in March, 1944, in Urbana as a campus activity. A section was organized at the Chicago professional campus in September, 1945.

The purpose of the organization is to acquaint the students with the professional field of occupational therapy, to identify the members as a group, and to promote the common interests of its members.

The curriculum in occupational therapy consists of ten semesters of study. Six semesters are taken in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences on the Urbana campus, and four semesters are taken in the College of Medicine on the Chicago campus and affiliated hospitals. This course was accredited by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association in 1944.

Chicago Illini Union

The Chicago Illini Union, known as the "living room" of the professional campus, has become the main center for students, faculty, and staff activities. Policies are set up by the Committee on Student Affairs and the Chicago Illini Union.

The success of the Union Building activity programs which have become more and more popular each year is directly due to the planning and initiative of the display, music, and social student committees.

The student display committee schedules weekly displays. This committee has a variety of interesting displays which attract the interest of the faculty and staff as well as the student body.

Planned record programs are sponsored every Monday and Wednesday noon in the music lounge by the student music committee. In addition, the committee sponsors several noon musicales and "Music Master's Quiz." This year, the music committee has scheduled evening programs consisting of operas and great choral works.

The highlight of the Union activities is the annual Campus Carnival which is held during the winter quarter. Organizations from all three colleges participate. The Carnival represents the top achievement from the standpoint of complete co-operation among the various colleges. Not only students, but also the faculty and staff have shown enthusiasm for the weekly coffee hour. Besides the Carnival and coffee hour, the student social committee sponsors a Fall and Spring Formal, three registration dances, and coke dances throughout the year.

Both social and scientific groups schedule their meetings, smokers, luncheons, dinners, buffets, and dances in the dining rooms and lounges. The soda fountain is a popular spot for students and staff during their few leisure hours. During the noon hours the meeting rooms, lounges, dining rooms, and game room are always filled to capacity.

Lt. Col. Donald B. McAllister, C.O.

Dental R.O.T.C.

The Dental R.O.T.C. unit was organized in September, 1948, and at present has an enrollment of about fifty students. The Corps is open to all first year male students under 29 years of age, if they are physically qualified, and to upper-classmen who are under 31 years of age and are veterans. Upon completion of the four year course, which includes six weeks of Summer Camp, the students are eligible for a commission as 1st Lt. Dental Corps Reserve of the U.S. Army.

Lt. Col. D. B. McAllister is a graduate of the Kansas City Western Dental College. He served as Dental Surgeon with the 176th General Service Engineer Regiment in Alaska and the Aleutian Islands, and the United States Military Academy at West Point during the war. He received his first commission in the Infantry Reserve from the University of Arkansas and is a member of the Scabbard and Blade.

Medical R.O.T.C.

The Medical R.O.T.C. functions primarily in preparing medical students to be Medical Corps reserve officers. Most of the students remain in the reserve, but a few enter the regular corps. Graduates of the R.O.T.C. have priority in being considered for armed services internships and residencies.

Major James Galvin, M.C., U.S.A.F., is a graduate of Albany Medical College and took over the R.O.T.C. after returning from Germany where he commanded the psychiatric center and served as theatre consultant in psychiatry.

John W. Brown, Director of Physical Education

Chicago Campus Physical Education And Intramurals

The Department of Physical Education and Recreation of the Chicago Professional Colleges, ably directed by Mr. John Brown, offers to the students and personnel of the University a varied program of sports and recreational activities. These activities are centered in the gymnasium located in the Chicago Illini Union. In addition, facilities which are available include the nearby tennis courts and athletic field and the swimming and handball facilities of the Duncan Y.M.C.A. The activities of the department are grouped in three major categories.

The varsity basketball team last year succeeded in taking six of their eleven games, while the varsity tennis team finished the season with two wins, one tie, and no losses.

The intramural program is the most extensive undertaking of the department. It was very successful last year with competition in four major team sports and seven other sports. More than one-third of the registered student body participated in one or more sports.

The individual recreational program, in addition to the intramural program, provides facilities for all of the major sports. Weight-lifting, archery, and fencing are other activities which are provided in the recreational program.

Through its program, the department provides much-needed and greatly-desired physical exercise as well as mental relaxation and diversion from the strenuous professional curriculum.

"United We Stand"

*In This Year 1951, Let Us All Pledge
Full Acceptance of Our Responsibility to Our Country*

In the words of Abraham Lincoln in the President's Message to Congress, December 1, 1862 . . . "The occasion is piled high with difficulty and we must rise to the occasion."

In this national emergency, our responsibility to our country is great. So long as conflicting themes of dogma divide people into opposing camps of philosophy, strife will continue in the world. Above all, we people of the United States must acknowledge a one-ness of purpose, must remain united, "one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Contradictions are not always what they seem to be. Light and darkness, warmth and cold, land and sea, good and evil, the known and the unknown, seemingly in contrast are but part and counterpart of the whole; the whole of a one-ness — one people, one universe, one God.

The responsibility is ours, this year of 1951!

THE ARTIST AND THE ARTISAN

The bust of Beethoven, shown here, was carved by Theodore J. Erdman, pattern-maker and designer, John Deere Van Brunt Company, Horicon, Wisconsin.

There's a kind of magic about some men, a sort of wondrous wizardry that empowers them to search out Beauty in its most secret hiding place and bring it within the reach of folks like you and me.

It's the kind of magic that enables the composer to hear a melody in the silence of the night, and to turn it into sound . . . that permits the artist to lure a landscape from the spectrum, and fasten it to canvas . . . that enables the artisan to see an image in a block of oak, and to free it from its prison.

And you and I are quick to recognize the gifted ones, to offer ready pedestal to the Beauty they create.

But, then, we must remind ourselves that much the same skills belong to some who create functional things. We remember that the designer must have the artist's eye, that the pattern-maker must have the sculptor's touch . . . that all, in art and industry, who aspire to excellence must have two things in common—pride in their work and an "infinite capacity for taking pains."

An artisan in his own right, John Deere, more than a century ago, set the standard of craftsmanship for those who have carried on his work, when he said: "I shall never place my name on an implement that hasn't in it the best that's in me."
